The Future City
Going for a Ride
Earthquakes and Fear
Quick Travel

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

IN 1975, 50 years away, according to General Heppenheimer, of the port of New York authority, New York City will have 50,000,000 population, and will be made into a separate state, No. 49 in the Union.

HOW much population do you suppose California, Florida and Texas will have 50 or 100 years hence? It sounds incredible, but the weaning child of today, will probably live to see an American city with a population greater than today's population in the United States.

NEW YORK has adopted the institution: "Taking a man for a ride."

Yesterday morning, one who had ridden was found with a bullet in his right temple—only the laundry mark on his silk shirt to identify him.

THE man chosen is put on the front seat, not knowing that he is to travel further than he ever went before.

At the right spot a man on the back seat puts a bullet in his head. He is thrown out, blood stains washed off, and the car is ready for another ride.

That is one by-product of bootlegging.

EUROPE is bewildered by earthquakes. Thousands of homes in Bulgaria were shaken to the earth, and the population hoping that Divine Providence would stop shaking the earth, walked solemnly around a city, singing hymns of repentance.

DIVINE Providence apparently is not placated.

MORE earthquakes in the Balkans. Varna on the Black Sea is flooded by a tidal wave, islands in the Aegean swept by a cyclone.

Men might well find in their war against nature enough fighting to do without killing each other.

THE fliers of the Bremen are on their way from the North to New York, coming through the air in an airplane built by Henry Ford and hired by an organization of various newspapers.

The body of Floyd Bennett is on its way to burial in Arlington. No more honor, glory or excitement for him on this earth.

"BABE" MEIGS, formerly a giant football player at the University of Chicago, now publisher of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, calls attention to the fact that Ford's all metal tri-motor planes have flown millions of miles without loss of life.

THE other day Meigs flew in one of the Ford planes, used by Standard Oil of Indiana, from Chicago to Detroit in three hours. Spoke at an advertising luncheon, flew in another Ford plane from Detroit to Cleveland, that afternoon and took the Twentieth Century to New York. In 24 hours he went from Chicago to New York stopping to speak in Detroit.

He might have reached New York at 10 p. m. of the day he left Chicago, but no airplane was available. Mrs. Meigs flew with him.

FIVE young women who worked for Uncle Sam during the war are told that they are doomed to death by radium poisoning. They painted luminous dials on war watches.

The women beg permission to sue the government in whose service they were condemned to death.

Science cannot help these women. This rich country should pay them generously.

POSTMASTER GENERAL NEW, wisely and because it was necessary, orders the Baldwin Locomotive Works to build 275 armored cabs for mail trucks to protect drivers from holdup men and machine guns.

That sheds light on law and order in 1928. The general crime wave started and financed by the bootleg industry was not expected by those whose well meant efforts for prohibition established the bootleggers on a $500,000,000 a year basis.

THIS year leads all others in steel production, and this month surpasses any preceding April. Gigantic is the steel business, nobody knows how far it will go. If you have stock in a good steel company, keep it. But don't gamble in steel, and remember the late Judge Gary's statement to this writer "United States Steel can sell at a profit below the production cost of our competitors."

THIS country is gradually getting rid of its gigantic gold accumulations that worried our dear friends in Europe. They felt sure we had too much gold, and are helping us to get rid of it.

Last month France and Germany drew $87,007,146 gold from us, and Italy $6,000,000.

Nothing to worry about, for the President, advised by Mr. Mellon, will know how to keep all the gold we really need.

FLIERS REACH NEW YORK

TOO LATE TO SEE FUNERAL

International News Service.

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., April 27.—The German-Irish trans-Atlantic fliers, Capt. Herman Koehl, Baron Gunther von Huenfeld and Maj. James E. Fitzmaurice, landed here at 1:50 this afternoon in the Ford relief plane in which they hopped off from Lake St. Agnes, Quebec, at 7:10 this morning.

The plane made a perfect landing in a light drizzling rain. Five minutes before it came down it was seen approaching the field from the north, flying low. It passed across the field at a low altitude, continued east for some distance, circled and landed from the east. Because of the rain, the fliers said they would proceed to Washington by train to pay homage to Floyd Bennett, who was buried there this afternoon.

Only about 100 persons were at the field at the time. There were no police arrangements and the spectators dashed for the plane. This compelled the pilot to shut off all three motors to prevent one of the propellors from causing injury to persons coming too close to the plane.

HOP OFF AT EARLY MORN

The relief plane left Lake Ste. Agnes, Quebec, early this morning on its way to Washington, where the trans-Atlantic fliers will pay tribute to Floyd Bennett, who died on his way to their assistance.

No stop had been scheduled here.

AS 92ND HOUR ENDS

The three remaining couples in the "Fallen Arch Parade" were still at it as the 92nd hour came to a close at 5 o'clock. Here, Albert Bonach, "champion," and Cora Dean freshen up with towels. "Jimmy" Conrad, Amerita Club, pours milk to help Teeny Neiman and Tony Phillips. Marianne Jacque, woman's "champ," and Eddie Leonard find refreshment in The Sun-Tele.

3 COUPLES DANCE 91 HRS.

Ninety-one hours of continuous locomotion slowly slipped into dance history at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Motor Square Garden. At that time Milton D. Crandall's long-distance hop had turned in 91 hours for three pairs of weary plodders.

The field of 49 couples had been steadily cut down, five teams going out of action early today.

In for the final grind are Albert Bonach, Lawrenceville, and Cora Dean, Homestead, Tony Phillips and Teeny Nieman, Amerita Club entrants, and Eddie Leonard, of the East Liberty, with the former champess, Marianna Jacques, whose record of 61 hours and 54 minutes went into the discard yesterday.

Hoping to be in "on the finish," 1,200 waited during the night, believing the end was near. But they fell faster than the dancers and new devotees took their places. This afternoon the crush at the Garden passed that of yesterday.

Of those who gave up the quest for dance honors today the team of John and Stella Capello, brother and sister, was the most touching. Shortly after 4 a. m. Stella's boy friend, Robert Sly, was carrying her to the trainers' quarters, when he slipped and fell. Both alighted on the concrete, Stella badly bruised and Sly with a dislocated hip. The girl resumed the grind, but after two

What if Dance Runs Into Sunday?

Barred doors or the swift flowing Ohio River are being considered as a means of circumventing the operation of the old Blue Laws, in the event that Milton D. Crandall's bunion derby extends into Sunday.

No decision has been reached, but the marathon instigator was giving thought to closing the doors of Motor Square Garden at midnight Sunday and permitting the dancers to drag out their fight in secret Sunday.

A plan to transfer the dancers in a moving van, early Sunday morning, to a boat on the Ohio River, where the dance could be continued, also is being considered.

HENLINE'S HOME RUN WINS FOR ROBINS

BRAVES FIELD, BOSTON, April 27.—The Brooklyn Dodgers evened the count with the Boston Braves when they won the second game of their series here this afternoon.

The game in detail:

FIRST INNING

BROOKLYN—Tyson flied to Brown. Bancroft singled to left. Hendrick walked. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch. Bell was charged with an error when he dropped Herman's foul. Herman fanned. Hornsby tossed out Bressler. One hit, one error.

BOSTON—Elliott threw out Richbourg. Moore singled to right. Hornsby fouled to Bissonette. Brown did likewise. One hit.

SECOND INNING

BROOKLYN—Hornsby threw out Bissonette. Riconda walked. Henline hit a home run into the left-field stands, scoring Riconda ahead of him. Elliott fanned. Tyson fouled to Burrus. Two runs, one hit.

BOSTON—Bell lifted to Bressler. Farrell flied to Herman. Burrus was hit by a pitched ball. He died stealing, Henline to Bancroft.

THIRD INNING

BROOKLYN—Bancroft flied to Brown. Hornsby tossed out Hendrick. Herman grounded to Burrus.

BOSTON—Taylor lined to Herman. Greenfield grounded to Bissonette. Richbourg fanned.

FOURTH INNING

BROOKLYN—Bressler beat out an infield hit. Bissonette flied to Moore. Riconda [illegible] Wessler. Farrell to Hornsby, Wessler was safe on Bell's low throw, Riconda taking third. Elliott fouled to Taylor. One hit, one error.

BOSTON—Moore fouled to Henline. Riconda tossed out Hornsby. Brown lifted to Bressler.

FIFTH INNING

BROOKLYN—Bell tossed out Tyson. Bancroft walked. Hendrick tripled to right, scoring Bancroft. Herman singled to right, scoring Hendrick. Herman died stealing, Taylor to Hornsby. Bressler lifted to Moore. Two runs, two hits.

BOSTON—Bell lined to Herman. Farrell flied to Tyson. Burrus singled past second. Taylor lifted to Herman. One hit.

SIXTH INNING

BROOKLYN—Bissonette grounded out to Burrus. Riconda hit a home run into the left field stands. Henline fanned. Elliott flied to Richbourg. One run, one hit.

BOSTON—Gautreau batted for Greenfield and was thrown out by Bancroft. Richbourg got a life on Elliott's error. Moore lined to Bancroft and Richbourg was doubled off first, Bancroft to Bissonette.

SEVENTH INNING

BROOKLYN — Morrison now pitching for Boston. Farrell threw o Tyson. Bancroft lined to Bell. Hendrick hit in front of the plate and was thrown out by Taylor.

BOSTON—Bancroft tossed out Hornsby. Brown lifted to Tyson. Bell went out the same way.

EIGHTH INNING

BROOKLYN—Herman singled to left. Bressler forced Herman, Morrison to Farrell. Bissonette singled to left, Bressler stopping at second. Riconda flied to Moore. Henline walked, filling the bases. Morrison tossed out Elliott. Two hits.

BOSTON—Farrell fanned. Bancroft tossed out Burrus. Elliott threw out Taylor.

NINTH INNING

BROOKLYN—Farrell threw out Tyson. Bancroft walked. Hendrick walked. Herman singled, scoring Bancroft and sending Hendrick to third. Bressler fouled to Taylor. Bissonette hit a home run into the left field stands, scoring Hendrick and Herman ahead of him. Farrell tossed out Riconda. Four runs, two hits.

BOSTON—Urban batted for Morrison. Hendrick threw out Urban. Richbourg singled to left. Moore walked. Hornsby fanned. Brown flied to Tyson. One hit.

MADDEN FALLS DEAD

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Representative Martin B. Madden, of Illinois, for many years one of the Republican leaders of the House, dropped dead this afternoon at the Capitol.

The veteran legislator, who was one of the little coterie that has dictated affairs in the House for years, expired without warning in his office in the appropriations committee room. He was chairman of that powerful committee.

Heart disease was ascribed as the cause of death. Madden had apparently been in good health and spirits during the earlier part of the day. He was stricken and died shortly before 1:45 p. m.

Representative Madden was serving his twelfth consecutive term in the House and had just been nominated for another term in the turbulent Illinois primary of last week. He represented the First Illinois Congressional District, located in the heart of Chicago's "Black Belt."

PENNINGTON PROBE ASKED IN CONGRESS

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Prohibition authorities of Pittsburgh were charged with attempting to use the Postoffice Department as "a snooping agency" in the investigation of jurors, by Representative LaGuardia (Rep.), of New York, in a speech in the House today.

Charging Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington with unlawful and unethical tactics in running the Pittsburgh enforcement district, LaGuardia introduced three resolutions in the House calling for an investigation of Pennington's activities.

LaGuardia read a letter claimed to have been written by Pennington to postmasters in his district seeking confidential information about men who have been drawn for jury service and who therefore might sit in cases involving prohibition prosecutions. He charged that the purpose was to pick juries which could be counted upon to "do the right thing."

The first resolution called upon the Postoffice Department to fur-

MOVE FOR COAL RATE PEACE ON

Sea Fliers To Honor Bennett

SMITH GETS 70 PA. DELEGATES

TO WASHINGTON FIRST

Members of the Bremen crew, as New York waits to idolize them in one of Broadway's greatest welcomes, go first to Washington to pay respects to the memory of Floyd Bennett, North Pole pilot who gave his life when he left a sick bed in an effort to succor them at Greenley Island. The Bremen fliers, abandoning their ship, leave Murray Bay, where they arrived in Bennett's tri-motored Ford plane last night, plan to arrive tonight at the capitol where Bennett will be buried next to Peary, first to see the North Pole. Herta Junkers, busy since the arrival of the Bremen, had much to do with this decision and Clarence Chamberlin, ocean flier, plans to guide the Bremen men into Washington. Lindbergh, "tricked" into flying secret to Quebec in an effort to save Bennett, according to Canadians, is back in New York. Capt. Koehl's wife and her mother, in the meantime, are speeding to this country with Fitzmaurice's wife.

AL SMITH GETS 70 IN STATE

The Democratic primary in Pennsylvania was one of the most important pre-convention victories gained by the forces of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, more complete details gathered today at the office of National Committeeman Joseph F. Guffey indicated.

Reports from all counties of the state received there today indicated that out of Pennsylvania's 76 votes at the Houston convention 69½ and possibly 70 will go to the New York Governor. This is a gain of about 25 votes over the total given him by Pennsylvania at the Madison Square convention in 1924.

"Congratulations. Appreciate splendid victory in Pennsylvania," read a telegram received today by Guffey from Gov. Smith.

The Guffey slate of Smith delegates in Allegheny county was successful, complete figures assembled today at Democratic headquarters showed. The only battle was in the Thirty-third District, where J. J. Haughes and J. H. Ake, with 650 and 641 votes, respectively, defeated Beech and Gallagher, who had 589 and 602 votes. The first two were slated by the Guffey forces, but all were for Smith.

W. Sidmore, of Nassau county, bundled them through the crowd into his automobile and took them to the hangar.

There they were closely guarded from everybody, even the newspapermen.

M'GOVERN ASKS FOR OUSTER

C. C. McGovern today asked the courts to declare his fellow-commissioner, Joseph G. Armstrong, ineligible to preside over the returning board, on the ground that he had been a candidate for state committeeman at the primaries.

McGovern petitioned Judge James James H. Gray for a preliminary injunction to restrain Armstrong from sitting. After hearing arguments Judge Gray and Judge Richard W. Martin took the papers and announced a decision would be handed down late today.

Meanwhile the 69 members of the returning board were sworn in and began the official count at noon.

Attorney Ralph Frank, for McGovern, contended an act of 1912 prevented Armstrong from sitting. McGovern, the only witness called, recited the provisions of the act.

For Armstrong, Attorneys M. B. Lesher and Assistant County Solicitor W. C. Jacob argued the law applied only to commissioners who are candidates for nomination to office at the primaries. Armstrong, they urged, was nominated previously through filing of petitions and that he was elected state committeeman at the primaries from the Thirty-eighth Senatorial district.

Three representatives of the Allegheny County Elections Association, given permission by the county commissioners, kept tab on the work of the returning board.

RAILROADS SEEK RATE PEACE

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP.)—A meeting of coal mine operators of the southern and northern districts with representatives of the railroads serving both, to be held in Cincinnati May 3, was decided upon yesterday by about 50 railroad officials who had met in an effort to avert a threatened rate war.

The conferees, representing railroads that haul soft coal to ports on the Great Lakes, met in the office of W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, to seek some form of compromise following upon the recent injunction restraining the Interstate Commerce Commission from forbidding a reduction of 20 cents a ton on lake cargo coal freight rates by roads serving the southern fields.

Lines serving the mines of Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee joined with those serving the mines of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois in voicing a desire not to continue the successive rate cuts which have sharpened competition between the two groups.

At the Cincinnati meeting a basis will be sought for a new differential between the rates between southern mine and the lakes and those from northern mines to the lakes.

Conclave Of M-G-M Opens

A two-day regional sales convention of officials of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Film Corporation opened this morning in the William Penn Hotel. Almost 100 sales and district managers from Washington, Buffalo, Boston, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other cities are in attendance. Canada and Charlotte, N. C., also are represented in the group.

The theme of the convention is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's elaborate screen schedule for 1928-29. This will include releases starring Norma Shearer, Greta Garbo, Lillian Gish, Marion Davies, Lon Chaney, John Gilbert, Ramon Navarro, Joan Crawford and other film notables.

THREE COUPLES STILL IN periods of dancing was forced to retire with a record of 81 hours and 15 minutes.

Speaking of records, the Ocean Park (Cal.) dance marathon was called a draw on Wednesday after two couples had shuffled along for 143 hours. The prize was $1,500, which was divided.

The Ocean Park marathoners took 15 minutes out of each hour for rest, while here the contestants dance one hour, then take 15 minutes' rest. This difference in computing rest periods means the local dancers put in one hour and a quarter more dancing in a day than the California marathoners and had that much less rest.

Every contestant here was required to sign a release, freeing the promoters from liability for injury resulting directly or indirectly from participation in the marathon.

Mayor Charles H. Kline visited the Garden late today and congratulated the three couples, still on the floor, who shuffled over to where he was standing.

"How do you feel?" he queried, after shaking hands.

"Fine," chorused the six. And they resumed shuffling.

it having been announced that the only possible stop on the way would be Hartford, Conn. In some quarters it was believed that the plan to stop here had been intentionally kept quiet to avoid the gathering of a crowd and a premature reception.

It was just two weeks ago this afternoon that great crowds gathered at Mitchel Field to greet the fliers from across the seas, a greeting that was delayed when the Junkers monoplane Bremen was brought down on Greenley Island, where it still lies.

CHEERED ON ARRIVAL

There was a cheer from the small throng as the fliers climbed out of the plane. Besides Koehl, Von Huenefeld and Fitzmaurice, those who emerged were Bernt Balchen, famous flier; Miss Herta Junkers, Mechanic Charles Wenzel and Charles J. V. Murphy, a reporter.

Balchen said that the trip from Canada was "uneventful."

As the fliers stepped from their machine, Chief of Police Abraham Gazzam's hill was named for his grandfather, William Gazzam; why George Barr McCutcheon some day wants to visit Pittsburgh; why Mme. Petrova never overlooks an opportunity to come here; how James Loder Park in Aden, Arabia, writes glibly of Pittsburgh's suburbs, and so on. Every line is refreshing. Father Pitt has indeed a vast guest book.

Pittsburgh—as others see us. It begins Monday. Watch for the letters.

nish the House with information regarding the number of postal inspectors and secret service operatives who have been assigned to work demanded by Pennington.

ASKS AUTHORITY

The second resolution asked the Department of Justice by what authority United States district attorneys could furnish Pennington with jury lists while the third measure called upon the Treasury Department to inform the House whether the department approves a course of this kind by its prohibition administrators.

LaGuardia in his resolutions insisted that each of the three departments named conduct an inquiry of Pennington's activities in the Western Pennsylvania-West Virginia district.

He characterized the Pittsburgh administrator's methods as intended for "law evasion" instead of law enforcement.

"Everyone knows," he shouted, "that bootlegging is political patronage in Pittsburgh. I demand to know by what authority Pennington seeks the information requested in his letters to postmasters in his district."

The letter read by LaGuardia as having been sent out by Pennington contained an extensive questionnaire as to prospective jurymen, the questions which were to be filled in by postoffice inspectors ranged from the business occupation of men on the jury list to their religion, what lodge they belonged to, who their friends were, whether a drinking man, and his approximate wealth. Still other information sought bore on the jurymen's attitude on the railroads and whether any particular influence was known to control their votes.

Following is a copy of the letter alleged to have been sent out by Pennington, together with the questionnaire which accompanied it:

THE LETTER

"Office of Prohibition Administrator Western Judicial District of Pennsylvania and State of West Virginia.

"Dear Sir:

"This office is very anxious to know something about the caliber of men who have been drawn for petit jury service for the May term of United States District Court beginning Monday, May 21, 1928, at Pittsburgh.

"Enclosed are forms to be filled out regarding the jurors belonging to your postoffice district. Would you be good enough to furnish the information desired and return the forms to us at the earliest date possible?

"We will greatly appreciate your favor.

"Yours very truly,

"JOHN D. PENNINGTON,
"Federal Prohibition Administrator"

23. In your opinion would he make a good juror?"

No. (Number of juror deleted by Mr. LaGuardia).

PITTSBURGH TO SEE SELF AS OTHERS SEE IT

What do you know about Pittsburgh? Are you sure that your observance of your home city is as keen as that of strangers who came from afar off and have been impressed with the wonders of the world's great workshop?

Your loyalty to Pittsburgh perhaps will be exalted when you learn what many of the most famous people of the world think of this magical community of brain and brawn.

Just what these celebrated people think of Pittsburgh, expressed in personal letters, many in their own handwriting, will be told in the Sun-Telegraph from day to day beginning Monday next. A more interesting symposium has never been published regarding Pittsburgh.

The letters, numbering more than 100, were acquired by the Sun-Telegraph from Roy Jansen, a Pittsburgh newspaperman, who carried on an extensive correspondence with notable people in all parts of the world. The letters to be published are hearty, informal expressions made to Mr. Jansen regarding the writers' opinions of Pittsburgh. The majority are complimentary, but not monotonously so. Altogether it is spicy reading with enough caustic comment to maintain interest to the end.

And there will be many surprises—why Elsie Janis likes Pittsburgh, how Ellis Parker Butler recalls that

BENNETT LAID TO REST WITH HEROES

POLE FLIER IS BURIED IN OILY TOGS

WASHINGTON, April 27. — (INS.) — Floyd Bennett, whom posterity probably shall remember as Bennett of the North, was buried today in Arlington, resting place of the nation's heroes.

Clad in the oil-stained togs in which he performed the last act of a lifetime of shining endeavor, the body of the North Pole Flier was started shortly after 3 o'clock for its final resting place back by the grave of Admiral Robert E. Peary, whose Arctic trail he had followed to fame and glory.

The weather was dreary, the visibility poor, the ceiling low as the funeral cortege, marching to the slow dirge of the Navy Band, mounted the verdant knoll in Arlington, which was Bennett's Fabled Way for the great exploration. A rain-driven north wind, which he conquered every time save one, rustled the mountains of flowers about his grave. They had come, these flowers, from all parts of the country and from Canada for this gallant gentleman unafraid.

The Capital will remember Bennett now as the naval aviator a few years ago he was a pain-distressed mechanic who received an admiral's funeral.

NEW YORK, April 27.—With saddened hearts thousands of New Yorkers paid tribute today to Floyd Bennett, whose body lay in state here for the brief interval of one hour on the journey from Quebec, where he died, to Washington, where he will be buried.

It was a silent throng that thickened the streets of the city as the flag-draped casket started from Grand Central station to the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. The coffin rested on a caisson drawn by six horses, whose steel shoes clattered on the pavements amid the silence. Following it were soldiers and sailors, swinging in slow rhythm to the beat of a funeral march.

At the armory 7,000 persons, moving at the rate of 75 a minute, passed past the bier and took one swift, reverent glimpse of the dead hero's face. The casket was heaped with flowers and wreaths

"CHAMPION'S" ARMY

On and on they drag in the dance marathon, resting each hour. Here's a horizontal view of "Champion" Albert Bonach as his "masseurs" keep life in his limbs.

THE HILL RESPONDS

Tony Phillips and Teeny Neiman, Hill district favorites, found plenty of help to escort them to and from their rest room. They're still strong.

VAIN WOMAN!

Vain creature, woman! Cora Dean, Bonach's partner, insisted on professional treatment for her marcel in rest periods. Cora's the marathon's fashion queen.

STILL GOING

They said 97-pound Marianne Jacque was too frail for the "marathon racket." She and Leonard are still at it.

OPERATORS HERE TO TESTIFY

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 27. The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, which has devoted itself almost exclusively for the last two months to investigation of the coal strike, is holding no hearings today. Taking of testimony will be resumed Monday when President H. D. A. Morrow, of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, and President Horace P. Baker, of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, are expected to go on the stand. Both have telegraphed Senator Frank R. Gooding of Idaho, acting chairman of the committee, that they will be on hand.

In the meanwhile the committee

The city's department of public works has begun its task of planning the East Street Bridge, to connect Charles and Essen streets, giving access to the Spring Hill district from Perrysville avenue. The bridge, of which an architect's sketch is shown above, will be of the cantilever type with a curved lower chord. The total length will be 1,830 feet, with the bridge proper 1,100 feet with 21'-6" roadway and 6'19" sidewalks. Above East street 220 feet, the span will be the city's highest. In the city people's bond issue of 1919 there was provided a fund of $210,000 and in 1926 $325,000, while the county added bonds totaling $390,000. The total available is $925,000. The two hillsides to be connected are pictured above.

GIRL GONE, KIDNAPING IS FEARED

International News Service.

OXFORD, Pa., April 27.—Simultaneous disappearance of pretty Frances Brown, 17, daughter of a prosperous farmer near here, and Guy Redmond, 34, Sunday school superintendent and an employe on the Brown farm, today had led her parents to believe they either eloped or the girl was kidnaped.

Pennsylvania and Maryland police are seeking the missing pair. An elopement was suspected after the girl's father, Kirk Brown, discovered his automobile was missing.

Redmond is married and the father of two children. Miss Brown was a junior in the local high school.

SCOUT EXPOSITION BRINGS PRAISE

Fathers and mothers and big brothers and sisters of Allegheny county Boy Scouts who thronged Duquesne Garden last night at the opening of the Scouts' Merit Badge Exposition, learned a few of the wonderful things the boys are doing.

They saw the great hall transformed into a self-contained community of 4,200 boys who are practicing all the useful arts and sciences as well as engaging in the adventures of scouterft. It was voted one of the most novel exhibitions ever seen in Pittsburgh.

The 76 accomplishments for which merit badges are awarded were demonstrated in a graphic manner and with the vim of success. In 76 booths sponsored by individuals and business firms the boys demonstrated their indoor and outdoor activities from angling and aviation to woodcraft and weather forecasting.

In the Scout publishing booth the spectators saw the editing and printing of a boys' daily newspaper; across the aisle boys were working on models of airplanes; a few steps away they were engaged in sculpture, weaving, basketry and taxidermy, and there were

2 OF 12 PATTERSON, N. J., TRAPPED FIREMEN DIE

PATERSON, N. J., April 27.—Twelve firemen were buried under 15 feet of debris when the second floor of Linn's department store collapsed during a fire today. Nine of the men were removed to hospitals in a serious condition; one was dead when found. A second died later. The three-story brick building was destroyed with a loss estimated at $250,000.

Jacque's Own Story As Dance Goes On

By Marianne Jacque

(This story was dictated by Miss Jacque, co-marathon dance champion, as she danced in Motor Square Garden, early today.)

WE'RE still dancing, Eddie and I.

I guess if I told you this was just like dancing only five minutes with the Prince of Wales to Paul Whiteman's music, you'd say I had a fine imagination. I've got to admit it's a little tougher than that. My Eddie's no future king.

This has been the easiest night so far for me. Maybe that's because I've lost any sense of pain. About 48 hours ago my ankles were beginning to hurt, but Floyd Bright, my trainer, wrapped them well during the rest period—and I'm all right again.

I'm actually telling the truth when I say this marathon has been easier than the one in February when I won the championship by dancing 62 hours.

When I started in that marathon I had a street car check, no money and no job. When Eddie and I win this $1,000 prize I'm going to take my $500 share down to Elkins, Va. I have two kid sisters in school there who can use it. We're orphans and they'll get a big kick out of that much money.

Eddie can use the money, too. He helps support his mother. He's a plasterer, you know, and a good one. I don't mean he gets—but is a plasterer.

You know that was a funny piece in the paper where Bonnach and his new partner said they did not give any exhibitions just for the crowd's sake. Well, Eddie and I pep it up every now and then because its good for you, it keeps you alive and shakes the sleep out of you.

The Plasterers Social Club gave Eddie and me $100 in prizes during the night and we certainly thank them right now. They're going to give us $5 for each hour we dance over the seventy-eighth. And won't that count up? Eddie told me a few minutes ago to break any dates I had for the Fourth of July. That's how long we'll keep going.

Eddie wants me to say that he's from East Liberty and not the Strip, as the papers have been saying.

How would you like to have the next dance?

MAY POLE DANCE AT MARATHON!

THREE COUPLES TAKE PART

What's almost four solid days of dancing, dancing, dancing to six healthy young people when they all have a chance to win $500 each and have thousands of people struggling to give them the "O-O?" In the marathon this afternoon, that affair at Motor Square Garden, Tony Phillips and Teeny Neiman, Eddie Leonard and Marianne Jacque and Albert Bonach and Cora Dean, the only remaining couples, stopped their "ballroom" dancing long enough to hold a joint maypole dance. It's offered to you above.

CONTENTED WITH MOTHER

Marie Weston, Pierce street, has been awarded the custody of her two children, Dorothy, 7, and Beatrice, 9, by Judge James H. Gray in Common Pleas Court. The parents are separated and the children have been living with their mother and their stepfather, Mrs. Jennie Sommerfelt, Tonawanda, N. Y., mother of the children's father, had brought action to have the children placed in her care. Judge Gray asked the children if they wanted their mother and if their stepfather was good to them. They are contented with their mother and that settled that.

LOREE SELLS OUT IN RAILS

NOW FREE TO JOIN ANY MERGER

NEW YORK, April 27.—(INS)—Having sold the stock holdings of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and the Wabash road to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, as I learned from the trunk line consolidation belt, L. F. Loree head of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad Company, is free today to engage in any merger project he may choose, according to railroad and financial district.

Though the purchase price of the stock sold by Loree was not stated in the official report of the sale, it is understood that the 42,000 shares of the two roads bought by Pennroad, representing a profit of $2,000,000 for Loree and the stockholders of his road. The average purchase price of $100 a share compares with current prices of around $70 a share for Wabash and $55 for Lehigh Valley, each stock having traveled about 12 points since March 1.

Loree also disposed of the stock "free from any restrictions," which means that he is not compelled to borrow money on the pledge of the stocks purchased by the Pennroad for the coal properties in the profits derived from the sale. It is known, however, that a substantial amount of money was borrowed on the security of the coal properties held by the road.

The "four trunk line" merger situation, having been cleared of all obstructions, will now be pushed forward, with the following lineup:

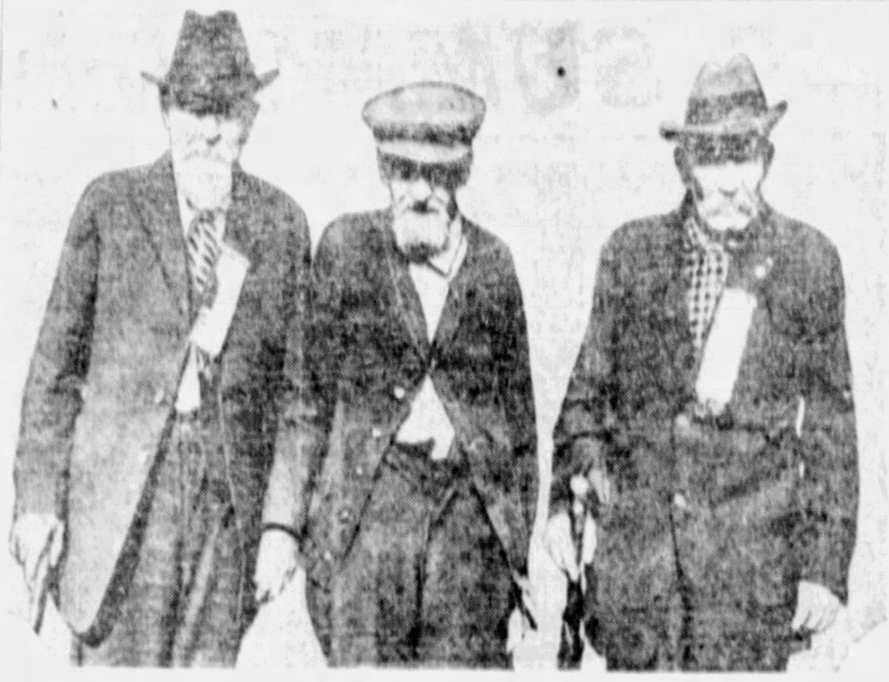
The New York Central probably will receive the Lackawanna, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, Wheeling and Lake Erie, Chicago and East Illinois and possibly Chicago and Alton, to be added to existing holdings.

The Pennsylvania Railroad will incorporate existing lines, together with the Lehigh Valley, which it has just purchased, and has right to use some of the trackage of the newly created Nickel Plate. It probably will acquire Lehigh, Wabash to Baltimore, reported.

Baltimore and Ohio will retain the Reading and the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Western Maryland, Wabash, the Monon and others.

The Nickel Plate will go through as originally planned with the New York, Chicago and St. Louis at the center, and the Erie, Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette, Hocking Valley and possibly the Wheeling and Lake Erie, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and part of the Virginian in the lineup.

LAST OF THINNING VETERAN'S RANKS



EACH AGED 87 YEARS

These three Civil War Veterans, each in his 87th year, live in Tuscarawas (O.), as the last of approximately 40 in that town. They are Benjamin Reichman, Company K, Ninety-eighth Ohio Regiment, who accompanied Sherman on his famous march; Jacob Stuber, One Hundred Sixty-first Ohio Regiment, and Jacob Affolter, Company B, Fifty-first Ohio Regiment, later a member of Battery H, Fifth U. S. Artillery.

FARM TOILER DIES AS OIL IS STRUCK

MUSKEGON, Mich., April 27.—(INS.)—Ludwig Hinz farmed in Muskegon township for 35 years and had a hard struggle to make a living. Today he is dead—just as a newly drilled oil well on his farm promises untold wealth.

The farmer's life ebbed away late yesterday within the hour that oil was struck. The Hinz well gives indications of being one of the best in the Muskegon field.

MERCY ORDER SISTER DIES

Sister Madeleine O'Donnell, oldest member of the Mercy Order and last of the sister nurses of the Civil War, died in the Mercy Hospital last night. Born in Ireland, Sister Madeleine came to the United States when a child. She has been a member of the Mercy Order at Mt. Mercy Academy 68 years. Prior to entering the order she was a nurse, serving during the Civil War.

Sister Madeleine at one time was head of the Mercy Hospital here and aided in the erection of one of the present buildings. She also was head of St. Paul's Orphanage when that institution was in Tannehill street. She leaves a brother in Ireland. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the Mother House of the Academy.

Fine Printed Chiffons

In Misses' New Dresses, at

$25.00

Chiffons as fine as those used in much higher priced dresses, patterns that delight with their variety and their colorings, styles that follow the new fluttering, feminine trend, posed over firm crepe de chine slips—that, in brief, is the story of these frocks, which will be shown all fresh and new, tomorrow.

The young woman who wants a smart afternoon frock of moderate price, which is also adaptable to dinner and informal evening wear, and that will be especially appealing in summer, should not overlook this opportunity.

Junior-Misses' Frocks $10.00 and $16.75

These new frocks are all of washable crepe de chines—not tub frocks in the ordinary sense, but chic models in beautiful colorings, which have the added advantage of being easily laundered. One-piece styles at $10.00, sleeveless or with long sleeves; one or two-piece styles at $16.75.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

New Sweaters

$3.95

Such pretty, colorful little sweaters are these slip-ons for women and misses, with crew or V necklines.

They are of lightweight zephyr, threaded with rayon to give them luster; and they come in orchid with white jacquard designs, pink with white, tan with white, and in white with stripes of yellow, black, green or red.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Silk Blouses

$4.95

More of those popular over-blouses of crepe de chine with Vionnet necklines of square or V shape, which are easily recognized as unusual values.

In white, pink, yellow, powder blue, old blue, gray, green, tan and red.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

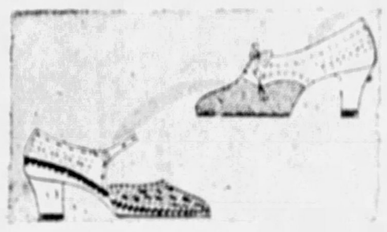
Lightweight Straws

Are Much in Demand

Among the most popular ones are the linen-like sisol, bankok and novelty raffia, which are fashionable, lightweight, and easy on the hair in warm weather. Priced $10.00 to $15.00.

Hats of these straws come in tailored and sports styles, including hats with the new, medium brim, like the one pictured. In natural, beige, navy blue, violet and red.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .



Woven Sandals

Ten Imported Models

$8.50

These are the better kind of "Lido" sandals, which bid fair to be even more popular than their predecessors of last summer. While having all the comfort features of the original leather-woven sandals, these shoes are neatly and firmly constructed so they look well on the street.

The ten models include strap and oxford types, in beige, beige-and-brown, beige-tan-and-brown, white, and black-and-white.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

New! Radiola "18"

Wear Weave Coats

For All-Season Wear

$49.50

This is a group that will appeal to the woman who is looking for a service and travel coat which she can wear almost the whole year 'round, for most of the coats are of such weight that they can be worn in all but the coldest weather.

Their fabrics are all that the name Wear Weave implies, capable of standing the hardest kind of wear, most of them being weaves imported from England, Scotland and France. Ruffshire a distinctive coating exclusive with Horne's, in Pittsburgh, is also included. All of the coats have fur collars. Sizes 34 to 46.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Misses' Dressy Coats at Moderate Prices

At $25.00, $29.50 and $39.50, there are surprisingly good looking dressy and semi dressy coats, all of them perfectly suitable as ensemble coats as well as for separate wear.

They are of kashara and similar fabrics, in natural, navy and middy blue and black. Some are unfurred, while many at $39.50, which group includes cape-coats as well as straight-line models, have fur cuffs.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Boys' Suits

$25.00

Two Pairs Long Trousers

Two long trouser suits of navy cheviots in double-breasted styles; some with double-breasted vests and pleated trousers. Tweeds and mixtures in the smart two and three-button styles. Sizes 13 to 18 years.

Four-Piece Suits with 2 plus four knickers, 7 to 17 years, $15.00.

Cast Rehearses -:- "RED WIDOW" -:- Opening Monday

CHINESE HEADGEAR

The exotic hat is worn quite often by members of the "Red Widow" cast. Two young women in Chinese costume are Mary Merro and Goldie Schenberg. The two make very beautiful exotics. The two are members of the chorus.

PARASOL

Freida Trautman, Dorothy Leach and Sallie Thomas also make very attractive Orientals. In their Chinese costumes and with their fancy parasols they are quite pretty. The "Red Widow" will open Monday night in Syria Mosque where it is being staged by Kaufmann Players. The show will continue all next week.

STARS

Harry Mohr provides the comedy in the leading masculine role and Ada W. Mineman is the star of the musical show. The two are seen in one of their poses at rehearsal.

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Above the clamor for attention, raised by those who would imitate the Richman price and selling methods, these facts stand out:

—only in Richman's Clothes will you see, at $22.50, style created by designers of international reputation—yet this adds nothing to our price, for the world's largest direct-from-factory sales volume absorbs the cost.

—only in Richman's Clothes will you see, at $22.50, pure all-wool fabrics from mills whose names have always been identified with highest prices—our huge cash buying power provides this extra quality.

—only in Richman's Clothes will you find, at $22.50, the precisely fine tailoring to be expected of 2,600 skilled workers who own a $6,000,000.00 share of the business that employs them.

—only in Richman's Clothes are you likely to find fancy-free choice of style and fabric, in your correct size and proportions—our stocks, replenished by weekly shipments from our factories, offer greater variety at one price than others show at all prices combined.

These are some of the features that make Richman's Clothes the greatest value your money can buy.

Richman's Clothes are sold in 31 Richman stores at one standard price—your choice of any suit, topcoat or tuxedo suit at $22.50.

ROSS PETITIONS ON ANNEXATION ATTACKED

Opponents to annexation petitions to Pittsburgh of a portion of Ross township, together with proponents of the move, appeared in large numbers at a hearing yesterday in Quarter Sessions Court on all petitions to the action of the city in acquiring the annexation. March 5. The district involved contains 2[illegible] acres extending from the city line to West View avenue.

Opponents allege that the required 60 per cent of taxables did not sign the annexation petitions on which Council and Mayor Charles H. Kline acted. There are 1[illegible] taxables' names signed to petitions, the required three-fifths under a previous tax bill, but C. F. Bell, township tax collector, says the record the board filed it was dated. There are now 916 taxables, according to opponents.

The hearing was concerned with the [illegible] of signatures and [illegible] the list of taxables. Some names were stricken off because of death, moving from the district or the fact that they were of minors. Judge George A. Meade adjourned the hearing for a week because of illness of Bell.

Assistant City Solicitor H. Sleeth Doyle and Attorney Ralph Smith represented protestants and Attorneys Thomas Nichols and John Witter opponents.

MILLION LFET IN ROAD FUND

HARRISBURG, April 27. (AP)—One million dollars of the $[illegible] appropriated in 1927 for state aid [illegible] and in the Pennsylvania department [illegible] opportunity to obtain this money [illegible] will end June 1, 1928.

After [illegible], what money remains in the state aid fund will be reallocated on that basis, those counties that have petitioned for aid and required work, for the completion of projects, will be permitted to share.

Both the state board appropriation of $[illegible] and to reappropriate unused [illegible] for improvement of highways by the state and counties [illegible] years ago.

FRANKLIN LEGIONNAIRE WINS ELECTION, BRIDE

FRANKLIN, Pa., April 27.—Friends of Lewis Andrews, commander of Franklin post, American Legion, were treated to two surprises Wednesday. First they learned the overseas veteran was victorious in his race for county G. O. P. committeeman, and several hours later they learned he had entered the ranks of benedicts, marrying Miss Mildred Knox, a local girl.

MANY SHAKEN UP WHEN TROLLEY IS DERAILED

More than a score of passengers were shaken up and Miss Anna Cora, 24, of 19 Mackey street, a pedestrian, was injured last night when a Spring Garden avenue street car split a switch at Progress and Chestnut streets, North Side. Miss Cora was given first aid for bruises at the Allegheny General Hospital after which she went home. Traffic was delayed half an hour while the car was placed back on the rails.

Healthy, vigorous men land life's best prizes. Buoyant step, bright eyes, clear complexion and exuberant vitality denote a system free from impurities. Constipation poisons the whole system, slows the step, saps energy, destroys confidence and cuts down the earning power.

Rid your system of constipation and its poisons. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets remove them gently, tone up the system, clear the eyes and improve the complexion, and bring back normal vigor. A compound of vegetable ingredients, prescribed by patients for 20 years (in place of calomel). They act easily and quickly on bowels and liver.

Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets and keep fit for the daily grind. Thousands of happy men and women use them regularly as an aid to success in their everyday tasks. Know them.

MOTHER AND SON ARE BENEFITED

Mckees Rocks Residents Restored to Health by Ten Herbs. Stomach Trouble Ended.

"Ten Herbs benefited my eleven-year-old son and myself so much, that it certainly is a pleasure to recommend such a splendid medicine," was the statement of Mrs. William Gorny, 412 Thompson Avenue, Mc-Kees Rocks, Pa., (near Pittsburgh).

MRS. WILLIAM GORNY

See the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of people.

"For the last five years I suffered with my stomach. Food would not digest properly. I would fill with gas and bloat terribly. The gas would work up around my heart and make me very short of breath. There was a sore spot in the pit of my stomach that was very painful to touch. If I stooped over, I felt as though I would faint. I was badly constipated and had dizzy spells and sieges of nervous headaches that would last for three or four days at a time. Sometimes these spells were so bad that I had to go to bed. My kidneys seemed to be in a terrible condition, and there were rheumatic pains in my limbs. My nerves were so unstrung the least noise would excite me and I would have a chill.

"Ten Herbs changed all these conditions and I do not have to worry about them any more. I have no more gas or bloating, and the sourness it gone from my stomach. My bowels are regular and my liver and kidneys are working properly. My nerves are more quiet, and I sleep better and am not so easily excited. I have no more nervous headaches, and the rheumatic pains have left me.

"Ten Herbs not only did wonders for me, but helped my son in the same manner. Following a fall, his stomach became disordered. After eating, he would become nauseated and vomit. The wonderful results I got from your medicine induced me to give it to my boy, with the result that within a very short time he was himself again."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK OBSERVED

Educators throughout the country are calling attention to the national observance of Public School Week, which comes to a close today with the culmination of varied programs in practically every school in the nation.

College and school officials in Pittsburgh are stressing the importance of education to future citizenship. They point out the benefits to be derived from a National Bureau of Education which, in a sense, will function as a "clearing house" for educational problems.

Dr. William M. Davidson, superintendent of Pittsburgh public schools, says education is the nation's biggest business. He says:

"The phrase 'the little red schoolhouse' has become a figure of speech in our language. It is the symbol of an institution which today occupies first place in the heart of every worthy-thinking citizen of this republic.

FIRST HERE IN 1835.

"The first little red schoolhouse planted in Pittsburgh was established in a frame building near the corner of Fourth street and Penn avenue in 1835. The enrollment in this first free tax-supported school consisted of five pupils. Today Pittsburgh expends annually upon its public schools $13,000,000 and it is money well spent.

"The business of education ranks among the biggest business in every community in America and in every state of the nation. I am not sure but that I would be willing to add to this statement that education, from the standpoint of investment, is the biggest single business in America."

President Thomas S. Baker, Carnegie Institute of Technology, said:

"It has long been felt in this country that the security of the democratic form of government is dependent upon an enlightened public opinion. On this account the responsibilities of the educational system and especially of the public schools are serious. The task of creating an 'enlightened public opinion' is largely in the hands of those who are charged with the management of our schools. Education for citizenship is not so much a matter of teaching directly the duties of a citizen in promoting intelligence and thoughtful attitude towards questions of public policy. To achieve this object educational theories and pedagogic formula are of less importance than the ability of those who direct the teachings in our schools, so that the chief hope for advancing the work of the public schools and creating an intelligent public opinion must depend upon our success in attracting to the profession of teaching gifted and well trained teachers. The public schools will advance in proportion as teachers advance in knowledge, enlightenment and enthusiasm for their work."

C. E. Dickey, superintendent of county schools:

"The proposed national department of education, I believe to be a needed feature of our national government. We need an educational clearing house for the nation. Researches should be nation-wide if not world wide, and the best modes of educational procedure should be broadcast to every district of the nation regardless of its size or importance.

"I believe that this program should be undertaken by the federal government rather than by private enterprise or by separate states.

"Inasmuch as this is National Public School week, attention should be centered upon this subject at this time. Every citizen who has interests of education at heart should seriously consider from a national viewpoint rather than a local viewpoint."

Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor, University of Pittsburgh:

"Schools were invented a long time ago; nobody knows when. But we have always thought that they were a good invention, especially so when they cause our children to become honestly and intensely interested in work. That starts them off in the right way. The schools of Pittsburgh are really top-grade and I think that it is a splendid idea to tell them so in as nice a way as we can during this national Public School Week."

VOTE SENTENCE POSTPONED

Judge H. H. Rowand today postponed until next week the sentencing of three members of the election board, Twentieth District, Twenty-first Ward, who pleaded guilty last week to negligence in performing their duties. They are Benjamin Foster, judge of election; William Trautetter, inspector, and John Blair, clerk. In pleading they incriminated Daniel Dixon, district chairman.

PUBLIC PAYS 200% ABOVE RAILROADS FOR COAL

MURRAY ASKS: WHY BIG PRICE DIFFERENCE?

"Why are you—the ultimate consumers — paying $6.50 a ton for coal mined in the Pittsburgh district, when the railroads pay only $1.55 a ton?"

This question was propounded by Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, at the Coal Seminar in the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church, April 25.

Seeking an answer to Murray's query, the Sun-Telegraph interviewed railroad officials, large coal operators, small mine owners, large retail coal yard managers, men who handle delivery trucks, traffic officials of the Chamber of Commerce and finally the ultimate consumers. The answers obtained in each case indicate the average range of prices between that paid by the railroads and domestic users to be within Mr. Murray's figures, but showed, however, that the ultimate consumer still pays about 200 per cent more.

MIDDLEMEN'S MARGIN

The interviews revealed that middlemen—selling agencies, jobbers, transportation companies, retail dealers and haulers—absorb the 200 per cent advance. The railroads claim that they are paying $1.85 a ton for coal at the mines, while the retailers quote a rate to domestic users in the city of $5.25 a ton for the best grade of lump coal at the curb. Coal in the cellar costs 50 cents a ton higher.

Why the railroads enjoy the minimum rate was answered by officials of all the local roads in almost the same language. They stoutly denied that the rate was $1.55, as stated by Murray, and referred to statistics on file with the Interstate Commerce Commission, which they said showed the present rate to be $1.85 a ton. They answered in this wise:

"Railroads have a comporatively low rate because they are the largest consumers of coal in Pittsburgh. As an example, four and one-half tons of coal, sufficient for the average home a month in mid-winter, would be burned by the big locomotive hauling the Liberty Limited in less than three hours on the run from Pittsburgh to Altoona, while the fuel used in a Baltimore and Ohio freight locomotive between Pittsburgh and Cumberland, would supply the average family for a year. The railroads, moreover, are steady buyers, using as much in summer as in winter. No transportation difficulties attend the selling of railroad coal, the product being taken from the tipple, hauled off immediately and paid for promptly."

The retail department of the Pittsburgh Coal Company was asked to deliver a five-ton truck of the best domestic coal to an Oakland address. The price quoted was $5.25 a ton at the curb. Fifty cents a ton more was asked for shoveling the coal into the cellar.

Why does the domestic consumer have to pay $5.25 while the railroads are paying only $1.85?" The question was put to an executive of the Pittsburgh Coal Company as well as several small local dealers.

The answers again were almost identical. They said:

"Follow that ton of coal that goes into the domestic consumer's cellar. First it is loaded on railroad cars and transportation charges must be paid to the yard. It is a short haul and necessarily expensive. Labor is required for unloading, and possibly there is a charge for storage. The retailer's investment and the upkeep of his yard must be remembered. He has solicitors, clerical help, telephone bills, light and other service. His labor is employed in loading the truck and driving it to the purchaser's home and beside this he must pay his truck drivers when they are standing around idle waiting for orders. Don't forget the gasoline bills and the depreciation of his trucks. And then, don't forget that the small consumers sometimes do not pay their bills promptly. These are the principal sources of overhead expense, but we have said nothing of scores of other items that must be met out of the middleman's profit."

TRAFFIC EXPERT'S VIEW

Donald O. Moore, traffic manager of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that the ratio of the difference between the price paid by the railroads and the domestic consumer is about proportionate with other lines of commodities.

"It is perhaps true that railroads here get coal at considerably less than $2 a ton," he said, "but it is also true that they buy butter and eggs at less than the Pittsburgh housekeepers have to pay. The railroads operate dining cars and use butter and eggs in proportionately as great quantities as they do other articles of which they are very large consumers. Some domestic consumers buy their coal directly from owners of small mines and get it for less than $5 a ton. This is an ideal situation for both buyer and seller, but it is altogether impractical in supplying the fuel needs of a large city. Middlemen are necessary and their burden must be carried in a legitimate degree by the purchaser."

90-Lb. Grandma Tosses Thug For Loss

International News Service.

CHICAGO, April 27.—Two frail women, one of them a grandmother and both weighing less than 100 pounds, were credited today with capturing a husky male burglar.

William Stanard, 37, of Amboy, Ill., the alleged burglar, was seen fleeing from the basement apartment of Mrs. Fyl Mockus. The latter gave chase and tossed the burglar for a temporary loss.

As the burglar fought her off, Mrs. Jessie Moxon, a 90-pound grandmother came on the scene. The burglar fled up an alley with the grandmother in pursuit.

It proved to be a "blind" alley, with no outlet. Mrs. Moxon succeeded in cornering her quarry there until masculine help arrived.

Half a Million People in New York Eating Liver to Restore Health

And Rebuild Weakened Vital Forces

It is estimated that in the City of New York alone over half a million men, women and children who have anemia are eating liver on the advice of physicians.

There is some "Mysterious Substance" in beefs liver that turns thin watery blood into rich red blood—restores in great measure weakened, vital forces. Just what that potent substance is, scientists are now trying to ascertain.

All they know now by thousands of tests is that weak, anemic, vigorless people are greatly benefited and nearly always are restored to normal and often robust health.

It is today well known to every progressive physician that the discovery of this vital substance in liver is a big step forward in medical achievement.

The chief trouble so far is to get people to eat enough liver to bring about a speedy recovery, for it is hard to eat liver every day—many people can't do it.

So now doctors are prescribing a preparation called Hemo-Liver, which is extracted from fresh beef livers by an intricate scientific process, so that rich, red bloodmaking vital elements are obtained.

So great has been the demand for Hemo-Liver that now all of the first-class drug stores dispense it in large bottles containing twelve ounces.

By taking one tablespoonful three times a day any anemic person will get as much of the potent substance as the eating of much liver would supply.

"Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls thirteen to eighteen, and in convalescence, it won't fail. As a spring tonic, it surpasses old-time remedies. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds vigor and energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished."

Why not get a big bottle of Hemo-Liver today—eight days' treatment—and if after you have taken one bottle you are not wonderfully improved, get your money back.

You can get Hemo-Liver at May's Drug Store

THIEVES SMASH DOOR, ROB WOMAN

3 IN AUTO CART $2,000 AWAY IN TRUNK

Three masked burglars using a fence post as a battering ram knocked down two doors of the home of Mrs. B. Gerber, 5 Spring Garden avenue, early today and robbed Mrs. Gerber and fled with $2,000 in money and wearing apparel worth $100.

The men arrived in a truck and after breaking down the doors to gain entrance to Mrs. Gerber's room, chased her. While one stood guard, others carried out her trunk containing $1,000 in bills, $200 in old gold coins and a box of silver trinkets.

They sped away in their truck with the truck before police could be summoned. Mrs. Gerber furnished the police with the name of a suspect.

COUNTY VOTE RECORDS TO BE PERMANENT

In the future, official records of elections and of paraphernalia used in primary and general elections will be kept permanently by county commissioners. Heretofore records were kept only one year after an election.

When Deputy United States Sergeant-at-Arms John J. McGrath visited the commissioners' office several months ago, and requested certain records pertaining to the Vare-Wilson Senatorial fight, they could not be produced. The law states that such records be kept for one year. The Vare-Wilson fight occurred in 1926.

County Commissioner Charles C. Matthews, at a meeting Thursday, kept proposed that data be kept by the county longer than a year. Both County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and E. V. Babcock agreed.

The new system will include number of votes cast, number of ballots used, number returned unused and the number of voided ballots. A record of the number of ballots printed and distributed to each election district will also be kept.

Ibex Twins, Born Few Hours, Hop About Zoo

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. Arabian Ibex of the Philadelphia zoological gardens, are the parents of twins, born yesterday.

BELA KUN PUT IN HUNGARY PRISON

VIENNA, April 27.—(AP.)—Bela Kun, Hungarian Communist, has been arrested here.

Bela Kun was head of the short-lived Hungarian Soviet government, which he organized after the World War. The peasants became discontented and a counter revolution was organized. Kun organized a "red terror," but was forced to flee to Vienna in August, 1919. Subsequently it was announced that he would be tried by the Hungarian government along with other Soviet leaders.

He was interned for a while in a lunatic asylum in Vienna, but after an attempt was made to murder him with poisoned Easter eggs he was allowed to go to Russia.

For a brief time, in 1921, he was Soviet high commissioner in the Crimea. Since that time he was variously reported in Italy, Germany and Galicia, always as planning uprisings.

In May, 1925, Kun was implicated in an assault on Maj. Amaral, commander of the Portugal safety state police, and deported for Portugal.

THE DIVORCE MILL

Detectives trailed his wife and found that she registered at hotels with other men. Pete Secret of 579 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, who wants a divorce from Katherine Secret, on grounds of infidelity, testified. Secret is represented by Attorney George W. Cooper.

Her husband kept company with other girls and introduced her "to his girl friend," Mrs. Eunice L. Metcalf of Nadine, Pa., testified in asking a divorce from Joseph H. Metcalf, whom she charges with cruelty. Mrs. Metcalf claims her husband beat her the night before he left and twisted her arm, injuring her shoulder. Ralph H. Phillips represents Mrs. Metcalf.

RUNAWAY HORSES WRECK OHIO AUTO

ADENA, O., April 27.—A team of horses wrecked an automobile here. The horses used by a rural mail carrier, ran into the machine, causing much damage.

ROBBED OF $55 ON AUTO RIDE

Five men who took Morris Samuels of the Baybrook apartments for a ride in Schenley Park, robbed him out of $55 in cash, his diamond ring, valued at $60, and then kicked him out of the automobile, Oakland police were told. Samuels reported that he met the men in Forbes street at Atwood street, and went for a ride with them. Police were given a description of the gang.

Always Thin: This Happy Woman Must Tell How She Quickly Gained 11 Pounds

Underweight Men and Women the World Over Ought to Profit by the Experience of This Well Known Tennessee Woman

Read It Twice

To McCoy's Laboratory:

This is from Mrs. W. E. Looney—I just must tell you that McCoy's Tablets are the finest things I have ever tried. I have always been thin and never found anything to do me so much good. I was disappointed in the beginning.

I weighed 104 when I began—now I weigh 115½. I praise them. I can't be without them. My limbs are picking up fine. I am singing their praises to everyone I see. I didn't have any faith in them to start.

Signed (Mrs. W. E. Looney), Tennessee.

Oct. 16th, 1927.

How can any woman or man either for that matter look superbly attractive with deep hollows in chest and neck and with limbs scantily covered with flesh?

In every drug store in America you can find McCoy's Tablets, sugar coated and as easy to take as candy. They are recommended not only to put on weight but to improve the general health.

One sickly man in New Jersey regained his health and energy and added 28 pounds of much needed flesh.

But read McCoy's generous offer—it tells the whole story to every fair minded person.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes, any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health, your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

Oaks Split by the Cold

IT IS recorded that in 1863-64 frost in England was so severe that oaks were split by the cold. Similar phenomena were described in "Lorna Doone," romance of a far earlier period, but that was fiction.

Measles, Most "Catching" Disease, No Laughing Matter

DR. COPELAND

IN infancy and early childhood one of the chief causes of death is the common disease known as measles. In and of itself the ailment is not serious. Like whooping cough, however, it may be followed by pneumonia, bronchitis or tuberculosis.

Even people laugh at measles. But I was once told by an old Indian fighter that when it attacks a grown person among the Indian tribes it is a fatal ailment.

The "incubation period" of measles is about two weeks. But the disease may strike on a week after exposure, or it may be delayed even to the eighteenth day.

Whatever may be the exact nature of the infecting agent, it is carried by the secretions of the nose, mouth and throat. It may be transmitted through sneezing, or by other contact with the secretions of the victim.

Measles is the most highly contagious disease known to man. It is "catching" from the time of the first symptoms. It continues to be so until the catarrhal symptoms disappear. For a week or more, therefore, the measles patient is a menace to his fellows.

One is not likely to have measles more than once. But an occasional person may have a second and even a third or fourth attack.

It is a mistake for a mother deliberately to expose her child to the dangers of measles. Until the age of 5 certainly, there should be made every effort to avoid the ailment. The fatalities are largest among the very young. If the disease can be guarded against until the child is well developed, he will fight off its effects with greater ease.

The first symptoms of measles are chilliness and real chill. Then come fever, headache, and inflamed tissues in the serous linings of the nose and throat.

The eyes are red and run water. There is marked sensitiveness to light. Sneezing and coughing are always present.

Up to this time the attack may seem exactly like a common cold. In a day or two after this, or about four days after the first signs, there appears an eruption on the face. Dark, red, smooth spots come out on the face and later spread to the entire body. The skin may itch and burn.

After the eruption begins to clear away there will be observed on the skin scales or flakes. This peeling-off process may take some time, several weeks even.

The patient should be kept in bed and surrounded by all the sanitary means of assisting the cure. He must sleep with the window open and get all the fresh air possible. You must watch out for the possible complications.

Never neglect a continued cough. Build up the body by simple food and quiet living. Do not consider the patient "cured" until all the symptoms disappear.

The itching of the eruption may be relieved in applying petroleum oil, cocoa-butter, or cod cream. These greases, too, will keep the scales from floating off into the air.

Guard the rest of the family by protecting them against the moist secretions of the patient. Catch the discharges on squares of gauze. Burn these so nobody will come in contact with them.

Fay King Tells How Girls May Be Attractive

By FAY KING.

THE difference between a girl men consider pretty, and a girl to whom men pay little or no attention, is often merely a matter of taste expressed by the girl.

Men are easily deceived in the arts of a beauty who knows how to make herself attractive!

A man is instantly attracted by a "pretty" girl, and being "pretty" is often just a matter of having clothes which are becoming.

They need not be costly! In fact some girls are unbecoming in clothes for which they pay much more than another girl does who is dressed attractively.

Some girls who make such a striking appearance, and are so much admired, would not be any prettier than the plainer girl if they exchange wardrobes.

I have seen a girl with a pretty complexion, a perfect profile, lovely hair and a good figure quite unnoticed because she would not make the most of these.

An expert in beauty like Mr. Ziegfeld would see the possibilities of beauty in a pretty girl, no matter how badly she was dressed. For he would see her perfections and know how she would look when the proper wardrobe was selected and improvements made.

But the average man has not trained his eye to appreciate potential beauty! He only appreciates what is!

So with taste and care a plain girl may make herself more attractive and even outshine a prettier girl who neglects the details of making the most of her beauty.

Meditations of a Married Woman

By HELEN ROWLAND

WOMAN, THE CRUSADER

HALF the women in the world spend their lives in spoiling some man—and the other half in trying to reform some man.

One of the greatests crosses of a man's life is woman's refusal to accept him as a "mere man" and let him go right on being "mere."

* * *

Nearly every woman is born with the crusading complex, and the conviction that the complete regeneration of the man God gave her, in her "mission" in life. She is never so happy as when she is "curing" a man of one of his pet habits, his favorite "failings," or his little weaknesses.

HELEN ROWLAND

"Woman's noble influence" over a man is just one of the little airy phrases with which he kids her into thinking that he "needs her." And every woman yearns passionately to be "needed."

* * *

Almost any man can supply her with enough frailities to keep her busy from the wedding day to the grave. He is always ready and willing to "admit" them. In fact he likes to boast about them.

* * *

He regards a few pet weaknesses as a sign of manliness, just as a black eye may indicate fighting blood or a broken arm good "sportsmanship."

* * *

Man's "weaknesses" run all the way from wild women to wild neckties, from cocktails to crap games; from golf to aspirin; from flappers to flap-jacks; from throwing away his money to throwing away his time; from following the women to following the ponies; from overeating to overworking.

But trying to separate him from them is about as futile as trying to separate the noise from a taxicab or to unscramble an egg. No woman ever yet changed a man above the eyebrows.

If all the energy that women have wasted in trying to cure men of their follies were concentrated, it would be enough to harness Niagara.

* * *

But, alas, a man will cling to his pet folly as tenaciously as he clings to his last molar. He may change his politics, give up his job and divorce his wife; but nothing but feebleness, old age or death can separate him from his beloved weaknesses.

* * *

There are lots of ways of wasting your life without marrying a man to reform him—but there is none more effective!

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Saturday, April 28

*Give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you.—*Think.

ALMOST propitious rule of the major planetary forces proclaims this a day for reaping the rewards of past effort and for renewed determination to reach to the goal of the ambitions. It is favorable for launching new projects for dealing with important corporations, and powerful individuals. The renewal of contracts and agreements to the advantage is foreshown. In personal matters restraint and amiability should be used. Beware small losses and extravagance.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an important year of success, progress and achievement of many ambitions. They should deal with powerful persons and institutions, making advantageous contracts and launching new undertakings. But be discreet and governed in personal relations. Look to small losses.

A child born on this day should be clever, versatile, ambitious and should reach high place in position. It may be free and magnanimous also.

Notable Nativity: James Monroe, President United States.

FOR THE LOVELORN

Janice

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am 17 years old and a senior in high school. I had been keeping company with a young man whom I loved dearly. The last time we went riding he wanted to pet, but I objected strenuously. Ever since then he has never called me up or attempted to communicate with me in any way. What shall I do? Shall I call him up or write to him, as I think we very much? I have not seen him since then. Miss Gale, please give me your advice, as I know it will do me good. JANICE.

My dear, doesn't it occur to you that this boy doesn't really care much for you, since he doesn't want anything but your kisses? Apparently your companionship means nothing to him. Put him out of your mind. He is not worth worrying about.

Poor Little Me

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am coming to you because I have no one else to go to. I am a young girl in my late teens. My trouble is this: I am, or think I am, in love with my boss. Whenever he is near me something in me jumps. And when he is sick I long to put my arms around him and mother him. He has told others he likes me. Now, Miss Gale, would you call this love, or what? I do not pet, drink or do any of the things the girls do nowadays. Often I look at my boss and he is looking at me, but when he sees me coming he turns his head. Do you think it could be he does more than like me? POOR LITTLE ME.

No, my dear, I wouldn't call that love. You are probably a bit infatuated with him and the fact that he is your boss, but don't imagine yourself in love.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A STYLISH, BECOMING MODEL (FOR MATURE FIGURES.)

CITY AWARDED BALLOON RACES FOR MAY 30

COUNCIL GIVES $15,000 FOR AIR MEET

Pittsburgh was awarded the national elimination balloon races by the National Aeronautics Association yesterday. The races are to be held at Bettis Field May 30. Fifteen thousand dollars to defray the expenses of the contest has been appropriated by City Council.

The winners of the first three places in the Pittsburgh elimination will be entered in the Gordon Bennett international balloon race to be held at Detroit June 30.

The races at Bettis Field will be the first for the second Litchfield trophy, which is awarded permanently to the pilot winning the race three successive times. Wade T. Van Orman last year gained permanent possession of the first trophy, winning the event which started in Akron, O.

"CANADIAN ALE" LABELS TAKEN

Believed to have been an important point for the manufacture and distribution of "Canadian" ale in the Pittsburgh district, an alleged brewery at 632 Upland street was raided yesterday by Federal prohibition agents. "Frontenac Canadian Ale" read glaring labels on bottles. Twenty-four barrels of beer mash, more than 100 pounds of sugar, 37 empty barrels and 60 empty 5-gallon bottles were confiscated, agents said. There was no one "at home" and no arrests have been made.

At 127 Carver street agents reported seizing 17 quarts of rum, 20 pints of whisky, 5-gallons of gin and 5-gallons of alcohol. Annie Luongo, 47, was arrested.

BOYS CAUGHT IN OHIO FACE CAR THEFT CHARGE

Returned to Pittsburgh from Cleveland, where they were said to have fled in a stolen automobile, three boys will be arraigned in Morals Court today. Anthony Murino, 16, of 1301 Marshall avenue; Joseph Hartman, 16, of 2312 Colorado street, and William Busler, 15, of 1442 Nixon street, are the youths. The car, owned by W. H. Apple, of 33 East Prospect avenue, Ingram, was stolen Sunday from East Lacock street, near Federal street.

NORTH SIDE TRADERS TO HOLD 'GET TOGETHER'

The North Side Board of Trade will hold a "get together" meeting of retail merchants of the Manchester district on Monday in the rooms of the board, Beaver avenue and Juniata street. A. B. Buckeridge, manager of the Pittsburgh Credit Bureau, will be the speaker.

ITALIAN CIVIC CLUB TO HOLD DANCE MAY 3

A benefit dance and entertainment will be held next Thursday evening at the North Side Eagles auditorium, Stockton and Sherman avenues, by the Italian Civic Club and Women's Social Club, the revenue to be used in the construction of a clubhouse on North Side.

BOROUGH CHIEF CONVICTED

C. F. Boyle, captain of police of Wilmerding, was convicted of aggravated assault and battery, and J. F. Schenefelt and Clarence R. Schenefelt were acquitted of charges of assault and battery in cross-suits heard in Criminal Court yesterday before Visiting Judge William T. Darr of Brookville.

There were mutual accusations that assaults were committed March 24, 1927, when it was alleged Boyle attempted to arrest Clarence Schenefelt for striking Mignon Wilson, a relative by marriage at the Schenefelt home in Wilmerding.

BOY ASKS $30,000 FOR AUTO INJURIES

Damages of $30,000 were asked in Common Pleas Court by William Neff, a miner, and his father, George Neff, of Sharpsburg, in a suit against Arthur M. Monier. The boy claims that he received serious injuries when knocked down by Monier's automobile.

PALESTINE LECTURE TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

The Rev. Dr. G. E. Brenneman, pastor of the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal Church, will deliver an illustrated lecture on Palestine in the church tonight, for the benefit of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Bill Hart Back in Kleig Lights For Day---Plays Extra Role and Collects $7.50 for Services

By MILDRED FILLMORE

WE HAVEN'T heard of Bill Hart for some time—that is, until today. Now dispatches from moviedom tell how the famous cowboy-hero of other days recently appeared before Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer cameras as an extra at $7.50 for his work.

This all has the sound of a sob story about a famous actor who has gone "broke." But it's not. Mr. Hart happened to be at the studio and was asked to help put some atmosphere in a picture King Vidor was making. So he did. And there were a lot of other extras in the sequence, including Douglas Fairbanks, Norma Talmadge, Mae Murray, John Gilbert, Raquel LaRocque, Renee Adoree, Estelle Taylor, Claire Windsor and Polly Moran.

Guess who is to be Lon Chaney's leading woman when he begins his new picture, "Easy Money?" None other than Anita Page. Perhaps that name don't tell you so much, after all, so here's for an elaboration. Anita Page is one of the two girls whom Harry K. Thaw took West to launch on screen careers. Harry didn't make out so well with his proposed picture ventures, so he came back East. But Anita won a contract, as you see, so naturally she remained in Hollywood. Anita's last name originally was Pomares. Then Mr. Thaw suggested Ann Rivers as a more suitable one for a career. But the movie officials decided Rivers sounded too stagy, so she's Anita Page now.

They will grow up these child-players. Comes word that Marian Templeton, who not so long ago was one of the screen's leading child actresses, is now playing a grown-up part. It is as the daughter of Gustav Von Seyffertitz in "The Woman Disputed," starring Norma Talmadge.

Colleen Moore is planning a trip to Hawaii. She will leave, with her father and mother, after completing her current production for First National.

INVEST, DON'T SPECULATE, HAYES' TIP

The financial question of immediate practical importance to the American people is to differentiate between venture capital and investment capital in committing their savings to any form of speculating or investing, according to Henry B. Hayes, of New York, president of the Investment Bankers' Association, in Pittsburgh today to attend a dinner of the local group of investment bankers at the Duquesne Club tonight.

"Sound American bonds and stocks of investment rating are still the world's premier investment securities," he said. "The fundamental business condition is sound and the country has every opportunity to grow in prosperity."

Mr. Hayes is accompanied by Alden H. Little, executive vice president, and Samuel G. Rice, educational director of the association, from Chicago. George G. Applegate is chairman of the Pittsburgh group and arranging for the dinner. The national officers are making a tour of the 17 sectional groups of association members throughout the country.

Knick?

LLORA HOFFMAN

Miss Hoffman is in 'Knick-Knacks,' coming next week to the stage of the Penn, but we have not been informed whether she is to appear as a Knick or as a Knack. Perhaps she does both parts.

AVIATOR DISTRIBUTES LIONS' CLUB CIRCULARS

William M. Gardner, aviator-member of the Lions Club of Pittsburg, flew over the city yesterday and dropped over 15,000 pamphlets advertising the Lions' radio party for the blind, which will be staged in Syria Mosque tomorrow night. Nationally known entertainers will appear in the party program.

Prominent official of the International Lions organization are coming to Pittsburgh for the event.

TED WEEMS' BAND RETURNS TO SANDERS

Ted Weems is to bring his recording orchestra here for a one night engagement tomorrow in Sanders, Freeport highway, Aspinwall. Dusty Rhodes, soloist in the Weems unit, is to be featured in vocal selections. Art Weems, brother of the leader also is to be featured. The Freeport highway at Sanders has not been closed for repairs, it is announced, and is not to be closed, construction work being limited to the section north of Sanders.

BOY'S SKULL FRACTURED BY GREENOCK MAN'S CAR

Russell Copeland, 9, of Boston, near McKeesport, suffered a fractured skull when hit by an automobile near his home last night. He was taken to the McKeesport Hospital by A. W. Hueme, of Greenock, driver of the machine.

A. J. LAMB WINS M'CANDLESS CONTEST

A spirited factional contest in McCandless township for appointment of township supervisor was decided yesterday when Judge Joseph M. Swearingen in Quarter Sessions Court named August J. Lamb.

A vacancy existed because Raymond McKinney moved from the district April 7. The losing faction supported John Ehler. Both factions presented their arguments at a long hearing in court last Friday.

Lamb was a candidate for the office last fall and was defeated. He formerly held the office.

RESCUE ROOMER FROM FUMES

Detecting the odor of gas, Mrs. Elizabeth Cole, who conducts a rooming house at 112 Broadway, Clairton, last midnight found Frank Fulton, 38, unconscious from carbon monoxide in his room. He was removed to McKeesport Hospital in a critical condition.

MISSING M'KEESPORT WOMAN RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Clara Hamilton, 42, mother of seven children, of 2512 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, for whom police had been asked to search, returned home last night. She explained that she had been visiting friends. In reporting the case to attaches of the missing persons bureau, her husband, William Hamilton, stated that his wife had said that she did not intend to return.

Good News For Girls And Women With Complexion Worries

One Week's Use of Plain Old-Fashioned Buttermilk Makes Amazing Improvement.

It's a strange thing that now after years of being almost forgotten the simple old-fashioned recipe of buttermilk for beautifying the skin is again being turned to by the clever modern woman.

But it is easy to understand when you see the almost unbelievable improvement the use of buttermilk will make in your own skin and the short time it takes to smooth out little harsh wrinkles, reduce enlarged pores and give your complexion a lustrous, youthful firm look.

For convenience's sake Science has perfected a way of combining fresh concentrated buttermilk with a perfect cream which you can now get at May's Drug Stores, or any drug store under the name of Howard's Buttermilk Cream. Just one application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will make your skin look better than it has for months—or your money will be refunded.

PLAY OF YOUTH IN BILLS

"Tommy," announced for presentation by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt next week is a comedy of young people. It concerns the Thurber family and Tommy, the daughter, Marie's sweetheart, Anne Forrest and Ralph Morgan will be seen as Marie and Tommy.

Balieff's "Chauve Souris" will begin an engagement of one week in the Alvin Monday night April 30. Headed by the rotund Balieff, the Moscow minstrels offer entertainment that is comedy, novelty and whimsy, both romantic and absurd.

"Wings," now showing in the Nixon twice daily, 2:30 and 8:30 p. m., will begin a fourth week in that theater Monday. Originally intended to be kept three weeks, its success has been such that it is retained.

Kenneth Thomson, who plays the leading male role in suport of Vera Reynolds in "Almost Human," the photoplay feature to be shown in the Davis next week, apeared as Lazarus in "The King of Kings."

BISHOP M'CONNELL TO SPEAK AT DINNER

Bishop Francis J. McConnell, recently returned from an international conference in Jerusalem, and President Daniel L. Marsh, of Boston University, will be speakers at a dinner tonight given in the church by James McCune to the board of directors of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, McKees Rocks.

D. W. DAVIES LEAVES ESTATE OF $8,500

Daniel W. Davies, of Avalon, in his will, left an estate of $8,500 to his widow, Blanche L. Davies. Mary M. Shiring, Pittsburgh, left $5,500 to several children.

U. S. SUIT SEEKS LAND FOR LOCK

Condemnation proceedings were instituted in the Federal District Court by United States District Attorney John D. Meyer, at the request of the secretary of War, against 2.1 acres of land in South Buffalo township, Armstrong county, desired to permit improvements in the Allegheny River, including Lock and Dam No. 6.

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker set June 2 for a hearing and appointment of viewers, and directed that a copy of his order be sent to W. H. Donner, president of the Union Improvement Company, owner of the property. The condemnation suit, according to the bill, was instituted for the reason that the price desired by the owner is considered excessive and unreasonable.

POLICE REPAY MAYOR'S GIFT

Recently Mayor Charles H. Kline at his own expense had pictures of every commissioned police officer taken and a copy hung in each police station. A full-size picture of the Mayor was also hung.

The officers, in appreciation of this gesture of the Mayor, have decided to show their respect for him. Yesterday each officer visited Police Superintendent Walsh's office and signed their names in a Morocco-bound album. The album with the autographs will be presented to the Mayor some time next week with fitting ceremonies.

THIEVES BATTER WAY INTO NORTH SIDE HOME

A fence post was used by robbers as a battering ram to break down a door in the home of Mrs. H. Griebel, 2409 Spring Garden avenue, early today. Mrs. Griebel and her two daughters fled through a rear window to summon police. While they were gone three men ransacked the house and stole old coins worth $300 and wearing apparel valued at $100.

WOMAN CHOSEN SPIRITUALIST PRESIDENT

The Rev. C. V. Morrow of the First Spiritualist Church, Boquet street, yesterday was re-elected president of the Pennsylvania Spiritualists' Association, for the tenth consecutive year. The election of officers was one of the closing features of twenty-first convention of the association, which has been in session at the William Penn Hotel since Tuesday.

The election of Mrs. Morrow was unanimous. Mrs. M. E. Cadwallader and Gilbert Armstrong, both of Philadelphia, were elected first and second vice presidents, respectively.

After serving 20 years as secretary, Mrs. Katie A. Springer, declined to again become a candidate, but consented to serve as a trustee.

George P. Davidson of Turtle Creek, was elected secretary, and Miss Mary Gross of Philadelphia was elected treasurer. Harrisburg was chosen for the convention next year.

DEATH ROLL

Dr. S. Willis Covell.

Dr. S. Willis Covell, 59, died Thursday at his home, 612 Rebecca avenue, Wilkinsburg. Dr. Covell was born at Easleville, O. He was a graduate of the Western Pennsylvania Medical College and the Pittsburgh College of Pharmacy. For the past 38 years he had been engaged in the drug business in Wilkinsburg. He was a member of Oriental Lodge No. 590, F. & A. M., and St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. He leaves his widow, Alice Stockdill Covell, and one daughter, Miss Maybelle Covell.

Jerome D. Croke.

Funeral services for Jerome D. Croke, 47, of 605 Arlington avenue, Mt. Oliver, who died Tuesday, at St. Joseph's Hospital, were held this morning with requiem high mass in St. Canice's Catholic Church. Mr. Croke was a lifelong resident of the Pittsburgh district. He leaves his widow, Christina Oestreich Croke; one daughter, Miss Grace Croke; two sons, Paul and Richard Croke; two brothers, one sister and one grandchild.

HIGHWAYS DEPARTMENT LISTS CAPITAL DETOURS

HARRISBURG, April 27.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Department of Highways announced today the establishment of an alternate route for through traffic on routes 3, 4, 5, and 17, to avoid the detour at Harrisburg between the city and the Rockville Bridge.

Traffic north on the Susquehanna trail was advised to avoid Harrisburg altogether by remaining on the west shore of the river. Cars entering Harrisburg on routes 3, 5 or 17 should cross the river to the west shore and proceed north on route 14. This detour was inaugurated Monday and will be in force for several months.

Negro Portrait Graces French Salon

PARIS, April 26.—(AP.)—One of the conspicuous features of the French salon of 1928 is a portrait of Josephine Baker, the American Negro concert hall artist. President Doumergue, who paid a visit to the salon today, saw the portrait, which was one of many displayed, among them King Gustav of Sweden, Gen. Smith-Dorrien, Marshal Lyautey and Cardinal Dubois, and it provoked a wide presidential smile. The portrait is by Mariette Leslie Cotton, of New York.

Gilbert White Alexander Harrison and Paul Bernardier were among the other American exhibitors whose works attracted much attention.

Lincoln, in full length plaster, with one benevolent hand on a boy's head and the other on the head of a kneeling woman, is one of the principal exhibits in the sculpture section.

Busts of Nungesser and Coli, and a life-size equestrian statue of Marshal Foch in bronze are other remarkable figures of this section.

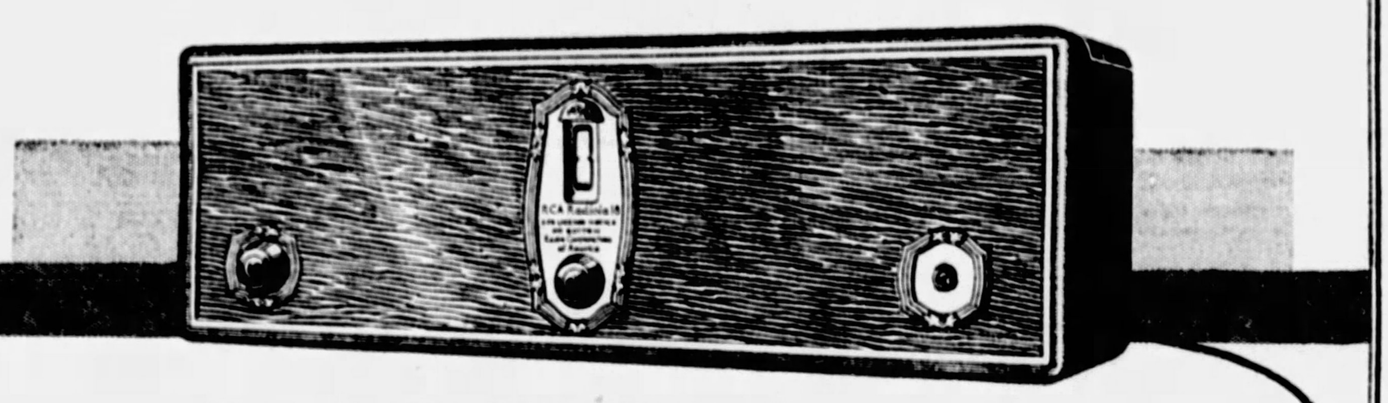
ANNOUNCES

a new and improved model of the most popular of all Radiolas



RADIOLA 18

RCA RADIOLA 18—In solid mahogany cabinet, walnut finish. Operates from electric light circuit—110 volt, 60 cycle, A. C. Uses high-power Radiotron rectifier and 6 alternating current Radiotrons. Special RCA electrically-lighted tuning dial. $115 (less Radiotrons).

AN even finer broadcasting receiver than the wonderful "17," of which more than $27,000,000 worth have been sold since October.

Everything that made the "17" the most popular of all Radiolas—the sensational pioneer of the new era in radio—has been incorporated in the new "18."

Simplified operation direct from the electric light outlet—rugged construction of the finest materials—amazing volume and realism of tone—finely balanced sensitivity and selectivity—they are all in the new instrument—and more—

The laboratory engineers of RCA, General Electric and Westinghouse have further improved selectivity so that there is still sharper tuning. The cabinet makers have designed a handsomer case (solid mahogany in walnut finish)—and the great public demand for RCA lighting current operated Radiolas has made possible a substantial reduction in cost.

In conformity with the well-known RCA policy, economies effected through quantity production and improved manufacturing methods are again passed on to the public.

A finer instrument—at a lower price—that's the new Radiola 18 in a nutshell.

Now at a very moderate cost you can replace your old radio set with a simplified and perfected Radiola that operates from the electric light circuit.

Ask the RCA Authorized Dealer about the RCA Time Payment Plan.

New Hats Wear Smart Brims

$10

The brim may be a little thing slashed over one eye and upturned. It may be wide enough to shade the eyes. Or it may be of picturesque width for afternoon wear. Crocheted straws, bangkoks, braid hats . . . all are smart for Spring and Summer wear.

The fashionable colors include beige, blues, green, orchid, grey, navy, black.

KAUFMANN'S—FIFTH FLOOR

Coats in Four Outstanding Groups

$25 39.75 $59 $79

Every one of these price-groups is found in the Women's Coat Shop, the Misses' Coat Shop, the Princess Shop for Juniors, and the Duchess Shop for Larger Women

Here's a fact that we wish to be clearly understood . . . every one of these price-groups offers scores of coats in every size, scores of styles in every size, and every fabric smart for Spring. Kashas, broadcloths, twills, tweeds, silk failles, velvets. If you wish a tailored coat, here it is. If you wish a sports coat, here it is. Or a coat for afternoon wear. They're all here. And every one interesting!

The silhouette is insistently varied this season. There's the furless coat intricately seamed. The cape coat in various versions. The coat with large cuffs of fur. The scarf-throw coat. The tweed coat with its sports air. The coat with the up-standing stitched collar. Every coat is entirely smart . . . even at the lowest price! Colors offer variety. Beige, grey, middy blue, navy and black.

KAUFMANN'S—FOURTH FLOOR

White as Cameo . . . Gardenias

White . . . with a suggestion of tropic fragrance . . . or rosy as a tropic dawn, gardenias most subtly accent the charm of modern women. Gardenia sprigs for tailored or evening wear, priced according to style, 39c to 3.00.

KAUFMANN'S—MAIN FLOOR

Crystal Pendant Watches

They hang from the slenderest of silver chains . . . like wee moons of crystal, intriguing feminine attention. And for the more practical-minded, they lay claim to being reputable timepieces . . . with fully guaranteed 15-jewel lever movements. Their price seems—and is—astonishingly low . . . 9.75!

KAUFMANN'S—MAIN FLOOR

Lace at Her Wrists and Throat

The subtle feminine—and that is every feminine—looks with interest at these ecru plastrons and cuffs of net and georgette combined with Val lace which will add a softness at her wrists and throat. They may be had at three prices . . . 1.95, 2.95 or 3.95.

KAUFMANN'S—MAIN FLOOR

Silk Frocks

Inexpensively Priced!

16.50

Entirely charming frocks with an expensive air, but an inexpensive price tag! Tub silks in tailored styles, long-sleeved or sleeveless . . . trim with pleats and flowing ties. KAUFMANN'S—MAIN FLOOR

Gay, Deceiving Adorias . . .

Deceiving you because their price is not proportionate to their chic . . . They are only $10, you know . . . but their styling takes fashion hints from the smartest and most expensive footwear. This slipper employs shadow-cloth, a fine crocheted straw (see how well it matches the bag sketched below); that one, gaily printed or embroidered silk or linen. And gay colors of blue and red and soft golden blonde. All $10.

KAUFMANN'S — FIFTH FLOOR

Silk Meshes Ensnare Chic

Within the delicate meshes of silk net hosiery lies ensnared all of Spring and Summer's chic . . . one wears net hose in misty grey shades . . . in dark, alluring gunmetal castes, or in any one of the charming family of brown-to-beige. And fashionable women say that silk net wears better than silk chiffon of equal sheerness. The price, 3.95 the pair.

KAUFMANN'S — MAIN FLOOR

Gloves of a Mousqueteire

Had no more swagger than is implied in the cuff of this feminine glove that flairs from its elastic wrist band. Two little pearl buttons are more than ornaments at each side . . . for they clasp the flair securely. You'll be glad to know that they are washable, as well . . . and that they are in colors you will want . . . mastic, beaver, and black with white. 3.95.

KAUFMANN'S — MAIN FLOOR

And Now! Straw Bags . . .

Rather—of Sangha are they fashioned, a kind of fine crocheted straw . . . and they fold sleekly on themselves to form chic diagonals. No matter what color your straw chapeau, you can match it with peach or pink, corn, beige, grey, white, navy or black, in your bag. The frames attain an atmosphere of elegance . . . slimly curving shell, or Sangha-covered and trimmed with shell. They are reasonably priced for being so modish . . . 4.95 to $15.

HERO'S BODY HOME AFTER 10-YEAR HUNT

Children Dance -:- STEPS OF MANY LANDS AND CLIMES -:- At Syria Mosque

CLOG
An English clog number, as given by Betty Nylander and Jack Bremer at the Barth Revue, Syria Mosque.

CANE DANCE
The cane dance was one of the interesting numbers at the Barth Revue. The participants were Irma Jane Coll, Jeanne Cochrane, Eleanor Imhoff, Alice Mae Gorman.

SOLO
Mildred Sigall loves a man in a uniform—the title of her number.

ANOTHER
Miss Marie Burns appeared in a nature dance—an aesthetic above!

BOOTS
Miss Dorthea Schar appeared in a Russian number, boots and all. And merry was the whirling she offered.

WINTER
The dance "Winter," presented by Dorthea Wenzel and Paul Bosau, was not so unseasonable despite spring's presence—calendarly speaking.

TRADER HORN

THE GREATEST ADVENTURE STORY OF MODERN TIMES

Horn's Scheme to Steal Great Ruby From Josh House

Fake Stones Sent by Little Peru—Goddess Nina to Be Educated With Sale Money

What Has Gone Before.

Initiated into the worship of the White Goddess, Isorga, Alfred Aloysius Horn, and 18-year-old English boy, out in West Africa as a trader, in the Seventies, learns that the goddess is Nina T——, daughter of George T——, an English trader of aristocratic family. He visits T——'s grave on a seaside island, marked by upas trees, wherein huge vampires make their home. Records found there prove Nina's identity. He describes a leopard hunt and his meeting with a black dwarf.

Bloomers Don't Impress Lions

By ALFRED ALOYSIUS HORN
Edited by ETHELREDA LEWIS.

CHAPTER XIII.

AS I had made all my preparations for my return up the Ogowe, I left early next morning by the light of the moon. My canoe, which was a large one, was built for both sea and river sailing. The wind was blowing half a gale so I decided to sail up the river and give my boys a rest. I had a good set of sails, one of which was especially large, and as we had the wind and tide with us we went up the river in record time, landing at Angola shortly after noon, so we must have been moving at tremendous speed.

ALFRED A. HORN

We took in sail at Angola about 3 p. m. that noon. From this place I dispatched four men with my overland mail, which went via Lake Azingo. Needless to say I had written a long letter to little Peru, my bosom friend, telling him all about the goddess and who she really was.

I also told him that for her sake I had determined to take away the large ruby and replace it by an imitation. It would be risky, but I would chance it. He could sell it in Liverpool or New York after he had it valued, and with the money realized we could educate Nina, whom I intended to steal off later on.

I drew a sketch of the precious stone and told him to have the imitation slightly pitted so as to show weathering. I must have the two imitations by next mail, if possible, as I would make the attempt soon to change the true ruby for an imitation.

Fixed for Adventure

Once I had it in my possession I would send it to him so he would have plenty of time to change it into cash. I told Peru I thought the best market for the big ruby was Tiffany's, New York, U. S. A. I also gave him a good description of the English girl, Nina.

In due course I received the two imitations and a most affectionate letter from my South American friend. After transacting what further business I had I made an early

DEAD HERO HOME AFTER MOTHER'S 10-YR. HUNT

How the body of Clarke R. Lowery finally was found, after lying for 10 years in an obscure corner of a battlefield in France, has just been revealed, as preparations for reburial here Saturday or Sunday are being made. Lowery was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lowery, 2744 Bergman street. He was a member of Company M, One Hundred Eleventh Infantry, and was killed at Fismes August 11, 1918.

For 10 years the parents sought the spot where their hero son was buried, but not until a comrade, Corporal Arnold M. Kegal, of Elrama, told of having helped to bury Lowrey was a tangible clue to the location of the grave found.

Kegal prepared a map of the place where the body lay and the grave of the Sheraden soldier was revealed. The body was brought home and members of Albert G. Baker Post No. 86, prepared to give it a military funeral in Uniondale Cemetery Sunday. E. S. Yourden, superintendent of the burial ground, cited a rule that prohibits Sunday burials in the plot and members of the post have entered a protest against the rule. If the cemetery officials insist on observance of the order, the funeral will be held tomorrow.

CENTRAL OHIO FROST DOES LITTLE DAMAGE

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 27.—Agriculturalists in this district stated last night that a heavy frost which settled over this territory Wednesday night damaged fruit crops only slightly.

Flood Will Beat Relief to South, Will Opines

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 27.—I am just sitting here looking out over the Mississippi River and its up pretty high. So I am just giving all my friends down South warning. Now it will take this raise a long time to reach away down there, ahead of government relief. So get ready, this water has got to go somewhere. Have your Fords made into amphibians.

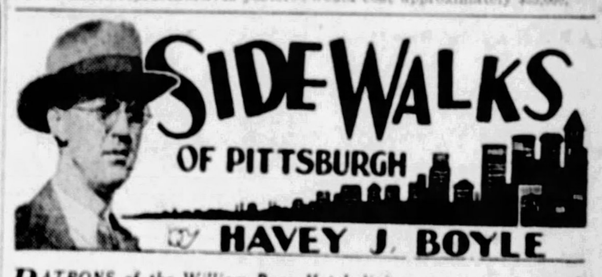
PENNSYLVANIA URGES U. S. FISH HATCHERIES

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania was among a score of states whose representatives yesterday made pleas before the House Fisheries Committee for the establishment of Federal fish hatcheries in their states. Representative Doutrich presented a bill seeking an auxiliary station for Pennsylvania that would cost approximately $5,000.

JUDGE EVANS TO BE BAR'S GUEST AT DINNER

A testimonial dinner will be given tonight to Judge John A. Evans, in the Duquesne Club, by the Allegheny Bar Association. Judge Evans is the dean of Pennsylvania judges, having sat longer than any other judge in the state. He has been serving for approximately 30 years. Between 200 and 300 members of the bar will attend the function.



PATRONS of the William Penn Hotel dining room are missing the familiar figure of John Murphy, the head waiter, who, through a change in ownership, has found himself away from his post after a service in this capacity extending over nearly 20 years. Before he moved to the William Penn he was at the Fort Pitt.

He was well-known to hundreds of patrons as John or "Murph," and on those few occasions when he was not on duty there were always many inquiries, for he was such a fixture that the customers felt his absence.

WHAT always appealed here about Murphy's work was that he was ever-watchful that the bus boys did not grab your plate when you were not looking and before you were quite through with the meal. Murphy would come to the rescue in such scenes as this:

Customer: Please don't take that plate away yet.

Bus Boy: Feeneesh?

Customer: I say, can't I keep it about five minutes longer? I promise I'll give it to you at that time even if I am not finished. I'll try to hurry.

Bus Boy: Feeneesh?

Customer: "Well, go ahead then, but will you leave me that small bit of roll?

At this juncture Murphy in a few words would banish the bus boy. He was always coming to the rescue like that.

Murphy knew by name practically every diner that went into the establishment. Finally, he was one of the few left who own a delightful brogue. Which, of course, may account in part for this lament.

A GROUP was discussing Victor Herbert, whose birthday is not so far away. "I believe," said the first citizen, "I was the first man in Pittsburgh to hear 'Kiss Me Again.'" "You mean, don't you, the music and not the words?" said the second citizen. The song is Herbert's most famous one.

* * *

HERBERT ASBURY has written about the famous gangs of New York, in which he details their sins and virtues, if any. He tells of one barroom in New York where a nose was attached to a barrel and the customer for three cents was allowed all that he could get in one inhale.

EVERY city has its gang history, of course. New York's were most famous because they were more reckless. There were gangs around Pittsburgh, too, in an earlier day, although they never tried to match their more sinister brothers in New York.

* * *

EVERY community remembers its gangs. Soho will recall the Red Onion gang for instance, a crowd of rough boys whose advent into a dance hall in another day meant some fist-swinging. The flower of one gang would be matched in the mind's eye of observers with the flower of another gang. Nearly every district can boast of a tough fellow who was about the toughest of them all.

IF YOU lived on the North Side you'd say the gangs over there were the toughest. If in Soho you would boast of the prowess of Soho's crew. In Lawrenceville, the South Side, and at one time, even in the East End, there were bad boys. Most of them have grown into middle-age now, quite ready to live down any reputations they acquired for being bruisers.

THE papers say Phil Kelly, the cop, has retired. He was a brave officer. He used to walk the Yellow Row beat along Second avenue. Later he was in the Hill district. He has been shot at oftener than the Prince of Wales has fallen off his horse.

BOBO BAXTER—What a Disposition! — By RUBE GOLDBERG

Trader Horn

departure and as the wind held well I was soon far away up the river, as I used both paddles and sails.

I passed the villages in quick succession and was at the mouth of the creek leading to Ediwa Mpeloor big lake where we had many rubber and ebony traders. There is grand shooting round the lake. I saw an animal feeding near the banks that looked like a leopard with black spots on a light yellow ground.

I shot the animal and we all had a laugh, as the supposed leopard had hoofs like a horse and two small tufts about two or three inches high in place of horns. The natives gave it a name, but I have forgotten it. I sent the skin to England to one of my sisters, who was very pleased with it.

There are a great variety of birds at Ediwa Mpeloor and I shot some fine specimens of crested cranes. The head-topping or crest was long. I sent these feathers to England and they were classed second to none. I was asked to supply them to a London firm at a good many pounds sterling an ounce, but I declined the offer and afterwards only killed the birds I required for my friends in Lancashire as presents, who valued them highly.

An Unfortunate Shot

I stayed two days at Ediwa Mpeloor and went gorilla hunting on the second day. I managed to shoot one large female, one out of three we met in a grove. The animal was sitting peacefully playing with something near her close to an old tree stump. She was only 250 yards off when I fired. She fell forward dead; the bullet had gone through her head from temple to temple. On approaching, we found a young baby gorilla which had gone to her breast immediately she fell.

I felt great sorrow at this sight and made a resolution I would never shoot another of these animals with their babies, it looked too much like murder. I sent the little one to Herr Shiff and it lived for about six months or so and seemed quite contented and happy with its new home, but like all the young gorillas in captivity, died with stomach troubles.

(As his book progressed, Trader Horn became more and more willing to voice his views on life. In reply to a question of Mrs. Lewis as to whether he believed Shakespeare was written by Bacon, he replied:

Shakespeare "Many"

"What's that, Ma'am? Do I believe Shakespeare was written by Bacon? I've heard the idea spoke of in London, but if you'll excuse me sounding somewhat harsh, that's one of the most foolhardy notions that the mind of man could conceive. It's well-known that the monks wrote Shakespeare. Our astronomy professor at St. Edward's—nice gentleman—I forget his name—but he went out to Australia to study the transit of Venus—howbeit he always said to me 'Aloysius, my boy, your Shakespeare will carry you wherever you want to go. Read between the lines. And remember 'twas not one head but many that represent Shakespeare. 'Twas the priests, who else?

"'What human man could have learnt so much without the confessional? 'Tis a universal grasp of the genus Man never likely to have been wasted on one brain.' Aye! Of course they kept him supplied! I dare say they were glad enough to earn a regular bit of money from the feller for the powerful stories they could give him. What they did with the money is nat for me to say. We're all human. And there's a truism you can't get over.

Nature Opens Minds

"No, I can't be said to be strictly Catholic any more, Ma'am. You forget the animosities of religion when you're living a life close to nature. These orthodox quarrels're a difficult thing to understand when you go home and you've been living happy with a Presbyterian trader shooting gorillas. Strictly, he was. He'd never go near the Josh House, Sundays or weekdays. A man without a natural curiosity. Aye, too much quinine drinking. Always warding-off. Any new fancy medicine'd please him, long as they were labeled preventive.

"Aye, that feller Sinclair belonged to a genus nature never intended for trading up the river. That poor lady I took down from Samba Falls would 'a' done better at it. A natural provision of courage is the right outfit for those parts, trader or missionary. She was a gallant woman. A bigger impression on the savage than any countess'd provide. Or that woman I saw in Rhodesia, Lady Florence Dixie. Wearing bloomers'll make little impression on a lion, unless a little natural curiosity.

Women in the Wilds

"That forbidden hill, where they used to throw the slaves down from the rocks. 'Oh, what a place for a mission, Mr. Horn!' she says. She was looking up like one of these saints in a picture.

"The' only white woman I met on the coast except Nina T——. She was a goddess in a Josh House. But I've told you that before. But I'm forgetting Madame Fischer, that little Frenchwoman who kept a little store and sold mostly drinks out of it to officers. A proper poison shop in a climate like that. About thirty-five she was.

"If she'd had anything of the mother about her, she'd not have provided young fellers with a death warrant. Aye, the Latin races are hard, even to the females. If she'd been a Liverpool woman, she'd 'a' said: 'Nay, lad. Better make yourself scarce out of here. Better let me make you a nice cup o' tea now.'

"That stove you gave me is sure a godsend, Ma'am. A man's not to be called homeless while he can kindle a flame of his own and call another feller in to it. Well—I'd better be getting along to au revoir before I wear out me welcome."

Menu for Sunday's Dinner

By PRUDENCE PENNY

SUNDAY MENU.
Grapefruit Cocktail.
Roast Duck.
Sweet Potato Croquettes.
Fresh Asparagus.
Apple and Carrot Salad.
Strawberry Mousse.

FOR the grapefruit cocktail, remove the pulp from the grapefruit and serve in sherbet glasses with a tablespoonful of grenadine in each glass. Two grapefruit should serve six nicely.

Place your duck on a trivit in a covered roasting pan, dredge with flour, pour half a cup of water into the pan and tuck away in the oven. Stuff with apples if you wish or leave unstuffed. Two hours in a fairly hot oven should be sufficient. When done, pour off all but two tablespoonfuls of the fat, blend two tablespoonfuls of flour with it, add two cups of water and cook until thick and smooth, and you have a delicious gravy.

Boil and mash sweet potatoes, season and add two tablespoonfuls of butter, roll in egg and bread crumbs and fry in deep, hot fat. Form the croquettes in pyramids or in oval shapes, as you prefer.

LAY asparagus in a kettle, cover with boiling water and cook 20 minutes; add a teaspoon of salt and cook 10 minutes more. Serve with melted butter.

Cut apples in cubes and cover with water in which you have squeezed the juice of a lemon. Cut carrots in small cubes and mix the carrots and apples with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce beds. A cup each of apple and carrot will serve six.

FOR strawberry mousse you will need a package of strawberry flavored gelatine, 1-3 cup of sugar, 1 cup of boiling water, 1 cup of cold water, 1 teaspoonful lemon juice, 2 cups of crushed strawberries, 1 cup of cream, whipped.

Dissolve the flavored gelatine and sugar in the boiling water. Add the cold water and set in a pan of ice to chill rapidly. When it starts to thicken, beat with an egg-beater until frothy. Add the lemon juice, strawberries and whipped cream. Pack in a mold and bury in two parts of ice and one of salt. Allow to stand for three hours and serve.

A GOOD SATURDAY MENU:
Broiled Beef Steak
New Potatoes, French Fried Onions
Combination Salad
Apple and Prune Tarts

FOR Apple and Prune Tarts, line muffin tins with pie crust and fill with the following mixture. Peel and slice three apples, pit three-quarter cup of prunes, cook together with one-half cup of water until the apples are soft; when add the grated rind of half a lemon, and four tablespoonful of sugar. Fill the tart shells. Bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes or until the crust is a golden brown. Top with a fluff of whipped cream and serve.

WALNUT COCKTAIL—A walnut fruit cocktail is a delectable springtime dinner opener.

Remove pump from 1 grapefruit, cut in pieces, drain and sprinkle with sugar. Remove pulp from two oranges and sprinkle with lemon juice. Peel and scrape one banana, cut in small pieces and sprinkle with sugar and lemon juice and add grapefruit juice. Skin and seed one pound of Malaga grapes and sprinkle with sugar. Blanch ¼ cup of Diamond walnut kernels and break into small pieces. Chill thoroughly, mix and serve in cocktail glasses.

ASPIC SALAD—Two cups tomatoes, 1 medium onion chopped, 3 teaspoons salt, 1 bunch celery chopped, 2 tablespoons chopped green peppers, 4 cloves, 2 packages gelatine, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon Iona Ribbon Malt Extract (hop flavored), 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Boil the tomatoes, onion, green peppers, celery and cloves together and salt, then strain. Add the Blue Ribbon Malt Extract, hop flavored, and lemon juice. Dissolve the gelatine in a little cold water and when set, add the hot tomato mixture. Mix well. Cool in icebox until firm. Serve in slices garnished with olives. Very good with meat.

ARTICHOKES

EATING artichokes is almost as much a social problem as eating asparagus. Here is the accepted solution: The leaves are plucked from the head with the fingers, and only the lower portion of each leaf is scraped between the teeth. The rest of the leaf is wasted.

All should get into the habit of serving them often. They are inexpensive, delicious and filling.

When you serve one whole artichoke, you don't have to serve any other vegetable, not even potatoes.

Artichokes can be prepared in a number of different ways. Here are my favorite recipes:

STUFFED ARTICHOKES—Wash twelve artichokes and remove the bottom leaves. Cut the stump as close as possible so the artichoke will stand. Cut the top off so they will stand. Turn upside down and pound until they open up.

For the stuffing, peel the stumps and cut them very small. Add to them one-fourth pound of grated cheese, six eggs, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Beat all together, and fry like an omelet. Stuff the artichokes as follows:

Cut up one onion and fry a delicate brown, add one can of tomatoes, pepper and salt to taste. Let it come to a boil, put the artichokes in this and let simmer for about forty-five minutes. If you don't like tomatoes, you can stuff the artichokes and cook them in boiled salted water or olive oil.

WITH DRAWN BUTTER—Trim the stem of the artichoke so that it will stand up easily. Wash by letting the water run into the leaves as it would through the head of a cauliflower. This removes all dirt and grit. Drop the artichoke in boiling salted water, and when water has resumed boiling turn the heat down to just maintain a boiling temperature and continue for twenty-five to thirty minutes, depending on size of artichoke. Drain and place each artichoke on a small plate, press down lightly on its head so leaves will open. The edible portion of the artichoke is then dipped in drawn butter and eaten as I have described.

ARTICHOKE HEARTS — When the hearts of artichokes are left over, they make an excellent luncheon dish. Melt two tablespoons of butter in saucepan over a slow fire, and in it fry a teaspoon of chopped onion, remove the onion and drop the diced hearts of artichokes into this. Cover and let saute for ten minutes.

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait. by Elenore M. Ehuerin

Jerry Sells a Picture and Dreams of the Day She Can Go Abroad

"I SAW that you didn't need it, . . you showed me that you had money of your own. I was terribly relieved. And there was no reason to exasperate you with her idle boast. No reason then for me to fling mud at Mary Pennings."

"You think there is reason now?"

She walked up to him and took her hat from his hand and stood, a long moment, looking into his eyes.

The youth and fire of her, even standing quiet like this, touched him. He found himself tracing the song and passion of her lips; the lavish wave of that black top-knot; the lilt and freedom of her.

"Reason enough! You're in danger of marrying her. I see this and I also see now what she is. Arrogant and a cheat to her inmost soul. Think me vicious if I'm willing to be ruled vicious if I can fling enough mud to save you from the fate she'd hand you."

"Jerry!" said he, held by the look of her eyes, by their high challenging fervor. They were so blue, so defiant and all at once so sweet. "Jerry, what do you care?"

She flung her head back with a laugh: "A cigarette, please! This has been a long, hard session. What do I care? Why, ole dear, I was once in love with you, and the great little mama in me is still on the job—still out to keep one Saxon Rhodes from her."

She stood on her toes, lighting her cigaret from his. She grinned, blinking her eyes because of the smoke and because of a sudden half-fainting excitement finding his lips so great to hers. She said lightly, "And remember—sometimes mama knows what's best."

"Jerry—will it?" The hand covering hers trembled.

"Can't! Don't you know I'm those wanting statistic in their lives. I've plenty. And must hurry. If the family dinner will be late, the bills unpaid and my children starved."

"Jerry—will you come in and look at my plans? I'm somethy re almost finished."

"Are they very fine? Are they worthy of you?"

He stooped down and picked up his hat, rubbed it slowly on his sleeve. "You be the one to say."

An hour later Saxon stood at his draughting board. An image went before him—young, fiery, sweet. It went quickly and vanished. For a moment the face hovered, mouth redient of songs—high, defiant song; eyes passionate and brave.

He thought excitedly: "Warm as flame—clean as flame. Fearless, fiery, unassailable."

He repeated this last word and, leaning against the board, heard his own heart thump. He remembered the touch of her fingers as he lighted the cigaret, brown and velvety. Remembered the way she used to tuck that little kit-kat in it.

With a tightening at his throat he picked up his pencil, worked swiftly.

The door opened. Someone coming across the room. He felt a gruffness—a resentment.

"Not through yet? I've given you an hour."

"Thanks," said he, acting absently. "I need another. Want there's a hurry."

"How long are you going to be?" said Mary, coming up to his board. "Can't you do this tomorrow. It's after seven and I'm starved."

"I'll hurry. I have to work tomorrow anyway."

"And you're not dining with us to the Beechmans'?"

"You want me to finish the plans, don't you?"

"Of course. But you're awfully at it."

"Shut up and have a seat. You don't know anything about it."

Mary gave an amiable shrug and perched a bench where it was just within his angle of vision. She seated herself with a breezy: "I'm afraid you're quite a brute, Sachs. I don't know why I put up with you. I hope you shan't turn out to be a Bluebeard. Time will tell."

He worked. He chanced to glance in her direction. And was suddenly, blightingly conscious of her pose. The black chiffon, her legs swung back.

She began to hum. Then to walk about the room, singing in a warm, husky tone. She stopped before him. "Give me a kiss to tide me over!"

For a few moments she stood there watching him: "That's the same sketch you were doing a week ago."

"No, it isn't."

"It looks the same. You plan so over details. No one could tell the difference. Sachs, you'll be finished in a month. You've got to be finished then!"

"Yes."

"My birthday is in a month. I've asked for a new car—it's on the way now—the stunningest car in San Francisco."

She laughed. "I want to do something different for this birthday. I never driven across the continent in a new car. With you. You can be ready by then, Sachs."

CHAPTER LXIII.

He went on with his work.

Mary Eunice took off her hat and ran a white jeweled hand through her hair. She leaned carelessly against him, her head on his shoulder. A delicate fragrance drifted in his face.

His teeth snapped together. He would never be able to look at Mary again without observing her pose; without hearing Jerry's ridicule: "Even her sexy stuff is calculated! Swish perfumed hair wantonly in your very nose, and you fall for it!"

He was in a very evil temper. First because he didn't like being interrupted. He wanted her to cease her inane prattle; wanted her to remove her weight from his arm; wanted her to march to that bench over there, put her feet on the floor. "Sit like a lady!" as he recalled his mother demanding of his sisters.

But second because of an almost murderous resentment about that thing she had told Sylvia—that thing about supplying him with the money for the contest.

He wanted to kiss down at her: "Did you dare to tell anyone you GAVE money to me?"

Said Mary, rubbing her cheek against his chin: "Why the grand silence, beast? I've just finished proposing to you."

"The answer is NO again."

"But the ayes have it! It's been yes for three weeks steadily."

"Did I ever ask you to marry me, Mary?"

"I beat you to it."

"Did I accept?"

"I think your charming speech was this: 'Marriage with you, Mary, would be less intolerable than with any woman I know.'"

"But still intolerable."

"Never mind the gallantry, ole dear," said Mary, reaching her hand to his cheek. "But serve me food now and I'll serve the love later. I'm sorry I launched you into this prize affair. You've thought of nothing else."

That did it.

"Did you launch me into this contest, Mary?"

"I suppose I'll have to take about three-fourths of the responsibility. I never did such tall talking in my life."

He took a choking breath and plunged. "Mary, did you tell anyone you were financing me?"

"Certainly not. That's just between us."

"Oh—so you think you are!"

"Don't be quarrelsome. You know how I figure you, Saxon. I'd be glad to back you for a great deal more than $1000."

"Well, I don't think that you're backing me, Mary! You advanced the commission on the English manor house."

"Well, hell's bells, why this excitement! Figure it anyway you want, darling. Who cares? All the same two or three months from now."

An instinct warned him to desist. Too late to argue about it now. The facts were clear. The Penningses had engaged him to do this English manor house. He had submitted innumerable sketches. The plans would have been finished and the place fulfilled. But they changed their wishes from week to week.

Then the mother went to Europe for the summer. Livestining was tied up. They were going ahead with it in the spring. Mary had advanced Saxon this fee.

He now contemplated the transaction with a violent misgiving.

He wondered hotly what he had gotten into and began to figure on reckless means of getting the money and returning it at once.

The presence of Mary here with her head on his shoulder brought the question of marriage repellantly to mind. Why in heaven's name will you marry if you can avoid it!

Love's Embers — Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" — By Adele Garrison

Philip Veritzen Decides to Confide in Madge but Postpones Making His Statement

THERE was that in Philip Veritzen's voice as he replied to my unguarded, bitter exclamation concerning my influence with my husband which told me that he suddenly had seen a barrier lowered and that I must make haste or I could not erect it again. Hasty equivocation, I had no resource save to resort to it.

"Oh, you must not misunderstand my meaning," I said, taking my hand from beneath his. "I meant that nothing in the world is permitted to come between my husband and his decisions concerning his work. In that respect, I suspect he is very like you. I cannot imagine the great Philip Veritzen changing a comma or a plan of his at the behest of anyone in the world."

His keen eyes swept my face, and I saw that I had not deceived him. But I had given him no choice save to pretend to believe me, and with a little feeling of relief I saw that I had succeeded in replacing the barrier. But that it was not as strong as before, I also knew.

"That opinion may be approving—or the reverse," he said slowly, and added with an amused smile: "My friend, Lillian, refers to me as a 'balky old mule,' sometimes, you know."

I tried to look as if I never had heard the expression from Lillian's lips, failed ignominiously, and joined in Mr. Veritzen's laugh.

"There! that is better," he said—"but it is not better for the story I came here today to tell you. There is no mirth in that story, only sadness and a great tenderness—and—perhaps the promised fruition of a long-deferred hope.

It is the story of a long-buried episode in my own past, one which has come—in startling fashion—to my mind within the last month. Never have I spoken of it. No one dreams of it save myself. But the time has come when I must confide in someone, ask someone for aid. I have hoped that in your divine compassion—"

He paused, looked at me searchingly. I knew that the sentence left in the air was intended to be answered.

"If there is anyway in which I can serve you!" I stammered, "I shall be only too glad. But—I am afraid—surely—Lillian would be—"

"Better fitted to aid me?" Mr. Veritzen finished the sentence crisply. "No, emphatically. You belittle your own capabilities. Besides, you would be exquisitely sympathetic—I can feel it—while Lillian's keen sense of humor so outweighs her sympathy that she would laugh at my story—I know it. And in a way she would be justified. The tale has a ludicrous side. But you would understand. You would not laugh."

Despite his earnest assurance I felt a sudden embarrassing impulse to laughter. But I smothered it and thanked him, somewhat perfunctorily, I am afraid, for a characterization of me which I was not sure I liked. As between possessing exquisite sympathy and a sense of humor, I preferred the latter quality.

I think something in my manner chilled his enthusiasm somewhat. At any rate he gave me another searching glance, then spoke as if coming to a sudden decision.

"No, the fates are not propitious for the telling of my story today," he said. "There is no hurry, however. Some more favorable hour will come. I want to ask your advice upon another point before I see my young protege. How far has this affair between Mary and my young cub progressed? Are they betrothed, or are their affections deeply involved?"

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Hill's Recovery Adds Another Ace to Bush's Slab Regulars—Another Round Will Put Staff in Trim, Manager Thinks—Waners Get Going—Local Boxers Not Yet Certain to Get Olympic Trip.

EQUALLY as pleasing as the Pirate victory yesterday, their third in the last four games, by the way, was the form shown by Carmen Hill on the mound after the injury he suffered in the opening bout here last week, when one of Jim Bottomley's slams struck him on the right leg with such force as literally to knock him out of the game.

Carmen Hill.

The tidy game that Hill pitched yesterday made it clear that a week's rest had put him in trim again, and it also indicated that there probably would have been a different result to that opening number here a week ago yesterday if Bottomley's wallop had not forced a change of pitchers on the Pittsburgh side. His recovery gives the Bucs another defensive ace that will help a lot.

AS a matter of fact, all of Donie Bush's first-string men, with the exception of the ailing Meadows, have been turning in highly creditable performances this week. In their last four games they have held the opposing clubs to a total of nine runs, and in the last five contests they have allowed a total of only 12 tallies.

That's only a fraction above two runs per game scored off the Pittsburgh fingers in five consecutive contests, which is mighty close to championship chucking any way you measure it.

AND the hurling is going to be even better, Manager Bush thinks. "All that we need now is one more round of our regular pitchers," said Donie. "They are going well enough, it would appear on the surface, but nine innings' work still is a slight strain for nearly all of them. Kremer pitched great ball in shutting out the Cubs Monday, but afterward he naturally suffered a slight soreness because it was the first time he had gone nine innings this spring. It has been the same with Hill and one or two of the others. But one more round of the first-stringers will make things just about right for us, and then the Pirates will be fit to strut their stuff for the first time this year."

AFTER getting away to a start below his standard, Lloyd Waner is now plastering the well-known ramble with noteworthy vigor and frequency. In the last two days he has made four hits and scored four runs in eight times at bat, a .500 clip, and one of his blows was a triple while another was good for two stations. He has boosted his average to .276.

PAUL WANER also is beginning to show the punch that made him batting champion of the league last year. Three more hits in four times up yesterday.

Lloyd Waner.

In the last four games he has made nine hits in 16 times at bat, an average of .563, and he has boosted his season's mark to .373.

Neither of the Waners, by the way, has yet struck out. The sure-eyed brothers generally manage to hit the ball some where, even if they do not drive it to safe territory. And left-handers, apparently, do not bother them any more than right-handers.

GEORGE GRANTHAM continues to give the customers a thrill by keeping up his long-distance hitting. His home run yesterday gave him the unusual record of having made a homer in each of the three games played at Forbes Field to date. And all three of the drives went to practically the same spot in the right-field stand.

Another player who has been fattening his batting figures as well as playing a great helding game is Sparky Adams. The little second-sacker made three more singles in four trips to the plate yesterday, sending his season's figures to .280.

ADAMS, by the way, has batted safely in his last eight games. The leader of them all this year in the matter of sequential hitting, however, is Pid Purdy, the little fielder of the Reds. Purdy has not been held hitless in any game this season, having batted safely in 11 successive contests.

THOUGH Andy Andrucci, lightweight, and John McTiernan, welterweight, have been named on the American boxing squad for the Olympic games, this is not a guarantee that the two Pittsburgh boxers will be taken to Amsterdam, as four men were chosen in each class, and only two—a first-choice and an alternate—will make the trip in each division.

The Olympic boxing committee will vote on the choices, with President W. S. Haddock of the A. M. A. casting the ballot for this district.

HOWEVER, both Andrucci and McTiernan, are said to have a good chance of being chosen, on the strength of the great showing they made in the Boston tournament. If one of them is picked for the trip it will be the third straight time that Pittsburgh has had a boxing representative picked to go to the Olympic games. In 1924, Freddie Boylstein, Freddie Greathouse, of Washington, Pa., Rags Madera, and Hughey Haggerty went to Paris, and in 1920 Jack and Pete Zivic were picked for the boxing end of the games in Amsterdam.

JOHN T. TAYLOR, prominent Pittsburgh amateur sport figure and secretary and treasurer of the Allegheny Mountain Division of the A. A. U., says the three-day amateur boxing tournament held in Boston this week was the greatest he ever attended.

Andy Andrucci.

"They had expected to run the show off in two nights, but there were so many entries that they had to extend it through three nights," he said. "More than 200 boxers weighed in, and there were 63 bouts Monday night, 69 Tuesday night, and 48 Wednesday night. On Tuesday night we were kept judging bouts from 5 o'clock in the evening until 6 o'clock next morning. And 8,000 persons out of a total of 12,000 in attendance remained in their seats all night until the last bout was ended."

Kearns To Renew Fight

NEW YORK, April 27.—(INS.)—Jack Kearns is far from downhearted over his kayo by Jack Dempsey in the courts. The former manager of the former champion says he has just begun to fight and will shortly file another suit against Dempsey besides carrying the old one to the higher courts.

"That decision favored me more than it did Dempsey," Kearns said today. "The jury ruled that our contract was binding. I can prove that it was not terminated in 1925. I intend to go after Dempsey again and next time I will take the stand and prove certain things that will make him liable to heavy damages, now that the contract has been upheld.

"I'll make things hot for Rickard, too. I'll tell plenty that he doesn't want anybody to hear.

"Dempsey has admitted under oath that he got my share of the Firpo fight in 1923. I'll make him account for that. He said I owed it to him. He can't prove it. I can prove plenty by the books and accounts I have kept."

PLANSKY GAINS LEAD IN DECATHLON TEST

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—(AP.)—Tony Plansky, twice winner of the event, took the lead over a crack array of all-around athletes today in the intercollegiate decathlon championship, opening-day feature of the Pennsylvania relay carnival. After completing five of the ten events, the former Georgetown star, now representing the Saint Alphonsus A. A., of Boston, ran up a total of 3778.7105 points.

Eighteen athletes started the all-around struggle and only one, Jack McIntosh of Monmouth (Illinois College), dropped out after the first half of the program was completed. The remaining five events of the test, which has the status of an official Olympic tryout, will be held tomorrow.

Plansky won only one event, the shot-put, but performed consistently enough to hold a slight lead for the day's work in the rain over Kenneth Doherty, Detroit, who captured the broad jump and totaled 3,782.561 points.

Tom Churchill, Oklahoma star and winner of the Kansas relay decathlon, held third place with 3,611.235 points, the result of consistently good work, while Barney Berlinger, sensational Pennsylvania freshman, was fourth with 3,578.495 points.

LLOYD WINS TWO RACES

Whitey Lloyd, Naval Academy ace, captured both the 100 and 400-meter races, but his poorer showing in the other events forced him down to seventh place.

Vernon Kennedy, last year's champion, appeared off form and was in eleventh position, virtually out of the running.

The remaining point totals:

Fifth, Virgil Elliott, Bethany College, 3263.875; sixth, Ray Monroe, University of New Mexico, 3248.225; seventh, Russell Lloyd, Naval Academy, 3240.885; eighth, Walter Gumm, Jr., Dickinson College, 3207.865; ninth, W. TEX RICKARD EXONERATED

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP.)—Tex Rickard was exonerated of suspicion of violating the rules of the New York State Athletic Commission after he appeared before the boxing body today.

The promoter was summoned to explain some of his testimony in the Dempsey-Kearns trial as to guaranteeing Dempsey a lump sum for a bout and "protection."

Rickard said that his guarantee as to a fair deal for Dempsey as to referee and judges was part of his "sales talk" trying to sell the bout to Dempsey as a salesman would.

MANDELL MEETS PIELA

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 27.—(AP.)—Tony Mandell, who hails from Boston, and Jimmy Piela, a local product of Cauliflower alley, will don the gloves for a 10-round bout here tonight. The boxers weigh about 126 pounds with Mandell the favorite because of his greater experience.

Christner fractured his right hand in the second round. Physicians called it either a new break or an opening of an old fracture which caused a postponement of the bout.

Jack McKenna, Chicago middleweight, won from Chuck Schnack, McKeesport, in eight rounds. Jimmy Darrah, Akron light-heavyweight, lost to Jack O'Connell, Cleveland, in six rounds, and Cirilla Jones, Akron Negro middleweight, earned a technical knockout over Harry Williams, Chicago, in four rounds.

STOP WELCH, BANY BOUT

Deputy Boxing Commissioner Ray [illegible] put a stop to the [illegible] Bany (Teddy Wilson) at the Pitt [illegible] Monday night, Welch, last night in the seventh round and decided to [illegible] contest right. The [illegible] was a strenuous one from the first going, as it was not stopped because of any lack of action. Both men were badly cut and bloodsmeared. Bany from a cut forehead and Welch from a gash over his eye, which had him practically blinded.

Both fighters protested when the bout was stopped, but Garvey overruled their protests. Referee Ray awarded the bout and Welch $100. Bany, who hails from Wilmerding, and Welch, a McKeesporter, are old rivals.

In the semi-final, L. K. Gibbons of McKeesport avenged the knockout suffered by his brother, Ed, a week ago by winning the judges' decision over Charley Heidt, another McKeesporter. The pair are heavyweights.

Eddie Myers of McKeesport defeated Bobby Burns of Swissvale, who was making his professional debut, in the second bout. The judges awarded Tommy Murphy the verdict at the close of the opening bout of four rounds over Johnny Morton, Homestead Negro boxer.

Eddie Kennedy refereed all the bouts. The judges were Jock Simco and Jim McLaughlin.

REDLEGS TO FACE MILJUS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

TODAY'S scheduled game between the Pirates and Cincinnati Reds at Forbes Field was called off because of wet grounds at 2 p. m. It will be played off on July 3.

A light drizzle of rain began about noon, and when the contest was postponed rain was descending in a healthy volume.

The weather forecast for Saturday is fair, and a pitchers' battle between John Miljus and Hippa Rixey is in prospect.

In copping the initial contest of the series yesterday, 7-2, the Bushmen lived up to their labels. Carmen Hill made another start on the mound, this time the Cerry giant going through to victory with colors flying. He rested seven days with a bad knee, the injury coming to him when he was pitching the home opener.

Hill let the Rhinelanders down with seven hits, while the Pirates were getting gay with Jim Joe Edwards and Peter Jablonowski. Carl Mays pitched the last four innings for the Reds, the submarine star

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

By HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

JACK ZIVIC was sitting in the sports sanctum the other day during a visit on his way through from Chicago, where he defeated Jack McCarthy last Monday night, to his home in Pelham Manor, N. Y., and his thoughts drifted back eight years to the Olympic Games trials of 1920 and the subsequent Olympic competition.

Both Jack and his brother, Pete, two years [illegible] in good form to make the Olympic team of 1920. Jack had been boxing less than a year at the time, yet they cleaned up in the National championships, Pete winning the flyweight and Jack the bantamweight titles. They failed to come through in the Olympics, but made quite a reputation in those bouts and later on a tour of Europe, and there was a merry scramble for their services when they decided to turn pro. Jimmy Brown defeated them.

JACK was [illegible] when he was eliminated from the Olympics. He was boxing a Frenchman and handed him quite a trimming, and when it was all over advanced across the ring to shake hands with his victim. Almost simultaneously the decision was given in favor of the Frenchman, and then things began to happen. Seconds and coaches and others became embroiled in a free-for-all. An explanation of the off-color decision was demanded and elicited the information that the judges had become enamored of the gameness of the Frenchman and had awarded him the decision on that score.

It was customary for the French boxers in those days to signal when they had enough of "Yenghi" as they put it. This fellow was too game to resign and he won the palm leaf as a reward.

A FLOCK of good fighters were in those Olympic games. Frankie Genaro and Jimmy Bosto were in the flyweight trials [illegible] with Pete Zivic. Pete defeated Genaro and beaten Bosto in the Olympics that followed. Genaro won the championship, defeated Pete, went on to win the world's title which he lost to Fidel LaBarba, the Olympic champion, and now Fidel Labarba has retired, Genaro again is a claimant of the crown. Bosto is one of the leading featherweight contenders and the Zivics still are hanging up in the business.

Pete, who fought Leo (Kid) Rea at Montreal Wednesday goes to the post again at [illegible] Monday night in a scrap at Duquesne Gardens. Jack Dempsey will be master of ceremonies at the affair, in New York, he is to meet Rudy Unholz, with whom he was matched a few weeks ago, Rudy withdrawing at the last minute because of illness.

JACK ZIVIC feels he has found himself again and will be a real contender for the welterweight title once more. After a series of reverses he defeated Jack Kathan and Jack McCarthy within eight days and he says he feels better than he has for some time. He is boxing well and regaining the punch that made him a terror a few years ago.

PAUL BERLENBACH hasn't had enough. The former [illegible] heavyweight champion, [illegible] used for a [illegible] a few weeks ago, [illegible] starts. He has been signed for another [illegible] in New York on May 11. Nicholas Rotta is New York's most [illegible] opponent for the Manassa Mauler. McKeon Rooks, studying with one of the ring [illegible] Berlenbach. He is a [illegible] to the [illegible] ever [illegible] of the ring [illegible] despite the [illegible] of his friends that he quit while [illegible]. He already has [illegible] his retirement twice, but it [illegible].

Will Form Strong Team

By "SPIKE" WEBB,
United States Olympic Boxing Coach.

BOSTON, April 27.—(AP.)—After watching each of the 165 bouts which were run off in the three day A. A. U. national amateur boxing championship tournament and sizing up each of the boxers, it was evident to me that the United States would have a better Olympic boxing team than in 1920 or 1924.

The excellent material which the tournament uncovered makes the American Olympic boxing chances look brighter than they ever have been in the past. I was especially impressed by the growing number of college boxers who participated, representing institutions in all sections of the country and the service academies, as well as the generally high type non-college boxers who took part.

It was a wonderful tournament and the Boston officials of the Amateur Athletic Association, who staged it, deserve much credit for their efforts. I was deeply impressed by the unfaltering interest of the public. Twenty thousand spectators viewed the bouts and paid $29,000 for the privilege. The gate receipts, I understand, broke all financial records for such an event.

ALL SMART FIGHTERS

Most of the youthful boxers proved themselves "smart fighters" and what pleased me even more, they appeared to have been schooled more along the lines of Olympic boxing. That is they had a greater inclination to clean, open fighting instead of the clinching and holding style.

The Olympic boxing committee has named each of the eight champions and their runners-up, 16 men in all, for the American boxing team. When these men have been formally approved by Mat. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the chairman of the American Olympic committee, I will notify them to assemble at the Naval Academy at Annapolis probably late in June, for their final training before sailing for Amsterdam.

The eight champions were: Hilton Miller of Los Angeles, 112 pounds; John L. Daley of Waltham, Mass., 118 pounds; Harry Devine, Worcester, Mass., 126 pounds; Stephen Halajko, Buffalo, 135 pounds; Tommy Lown, New York, 147 pounds; Ensign Harry H. Henderson of the U. S. Navy, 160 pounds; Leon Lucas, Philadelphia, 178 pounds; George Hoffman, New York, heavyweight.

The runners-up in the championship final bouts were: Gene Bianco of Boston, 112 pounds; Peter Mario, Cleveland, 118 pounds; Edward Kauffman, Cleveland, 126 pounds; Gaetano Russo, Boston, 135 pounds; Carmen Turzillio, Los Angeles, 147 pounds; Allyn Stillman, St. Louis, 160 pounds; David Maier, Milwaukee, 178 pounds; Royal Elliott, Alhambra, Cal., heavyweight.

In Thomas Lown of New York, who successfully defended his national welterweight title, the United States has one of the finest amateur boxers in the world. Lown has been a national champion for the past four years, as he was twice the 125 pounds titlist before he outgrew that division.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Akron, O.—Sandy Seifert defeated K. O. Christner, 10 rounds; Jack McKenna defeated Chuck Sargent, 8 rounds; Jerry O'Connell defeated Jimmy Darrow, 6 rounds; Cecilia Jones won by technical knockout over Harry Williams, 4 rounds.

At Cleveland—Andre Routis defeated Ignacio Fernandez, 12 rounds; Maxie Strub won by technical knockout over Jimmy Trannett, 3 rounds; Nicky Gavin won by disqualification over Pori Anderson, Pittsburgh, 2 rounds.

At Philadelphia—Ralph Smith knocked out Harry Slaughter, 2 rounds.

At St. Louis—Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, won by technical knockout over Billy Isaaks, 3 rounds; Meyer Grace knocked out Lester Martin, 1 round; Frankie Ouser defeated Charley Glaser, 10 rounds.

At Fort Thomas, Ky.—Kid Locke defeated Joe Dragon, 10 rounds; Freddie Miller defeated Howard Jones, 10 rounds.

At Decatur, Ill.—Jimmy Sayers defeated Billy Knowles, 10 rounds.

At Wilmington, Del.—Johnny Jadick defeated Chuck Liddell, 8 rounds; Tommy McConaghy knocked out Mickey Casey, 3 rounds; Phil Rosell won by technical knockout over Tommy Lyons, 6 rounds; Joe Lindberg knocked out Jackie Lewis, 1 round; Johnny Maher defeated Eddie Ritchie, 6 rounds.

At Johnstown, Pa.—Jackie Rodgers defeated Mickey Doyle, 10 rounds; Ike MacFowler knocked out Ray Carroll, 3 rounds; Tommy Ward defeated Billy Maple, 6 rounds; Hugh Fetzler defeated Henry Ojeda, 8 rounds.

PIRATES

Boots Grantham with his third homer of the year, the Waner boys, Sparky Adams and Glenn Wright furnished batting features. The invaders had to go along for quite a spell before they could get either of the Waners out. Lloyd and Paul hammered extra-base hits to all parts of the field. Adams collected a cluster of three blows, while Wright's smashing drives figured heavily in the scoring.

His Pirate mates spotted Hill an early lead which the spectacled pitcher nursed carefully. Carmen showed little signs of weakening as he reeled off his first nine frames of the year. It was pleasing to Hush and the remainder of the Pirates to see Carmen getting so much stuff on the ball. At the finish, he fanned Horace Ford for the last putout.

SKIBO GRIDDERS ELECTED TO OFFICE

Two members of the football team at Carnegie Institute of Technology will fill important positions on the Inter-Student Council for the coming year as a result of the election of new council officers by the undergraduate body. For president of the council, the highest student office on the campus, the choice was John C. Steffey of Marietta, O., a junior. In the department of athletics, Thomas Fleming, president of Martins Ferry, O., regular halfback on the varsity for the past two years, both Steffey and Lafferty were also members of the varsity basketball team this past season.

WILKINSBURG WINS

The Wilkinsburg Junior High baseball team defeated Latimer, 11-8, in a free-hitting game at Firestone Park.

Gavuzzi Wins Lap; Adds to Lead

HILLSIDE VIEW, Mo., April 27.—(AP.)—Peter Gavuzzi, bristle bearded Britisher and leader in C. C. (Cross Country) Pyle's transcontinental heel and toe parade, headed his 72 rivals out of here today for East St. Louis, the fifty-fifth control, 33 miles east of here.

Gavuzzi, with an elapsed time of 343.20.06 for the 2,867.4 miles from Los Angeles, showed his metal Thursday by finishing first on the 45.6 mile trek from Sullivan which brought him in first in 6.11.11. He thus increased his lead over Andrew Payne, youthful Oklahoman to 1.49.35, when Payne, handicapped by a cold ran a dead heat for fifth place with Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro.

Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., attempted to make good his threat to lead "Gavuzzi every day from now on" but faltered with three fourths of the lap completed and finished in 6.22.11.

St. Louis, Mo., and the Pyle management were unable to come to terms on establishing the night control there and for that reason the runners and walkers will dash through the business district of the city, across the Mississippi to East St. Louis, Ill.

Tomorrow's hike will put the Pyle caravan in Staunton, Ill. The following are the 12 leaders in the transcontinental foot race and their elapsed time for 2,867.4 miles.

Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, Eng., 343.20.06

Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., 345.09.41.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 350.40.58.

Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., 353.03.22.

Ed Gardner, Seattle, Wash., 350.04.56.

William Kerr, Minneapolis, Minn., 350.13.40.

Mike Jerce, Cleveland, O., 351.25.58.

Louis Perrella, Albany, N. Y., 354.29.27.

Orazio Umek, Trieste, Italy, 291.42.44.

John Cronick, Saskatoon, Sask., 358.15.24.

Olli Wanttinen, New York, (will reach control point later.)

Harry Abramowitz, New York, 415.05.16.

CHILLY SAUCE

BY CHILLY DOYLE

ONE of the Pirates was invited out to a gathering last night and accepted on the condition that he would not be called upon to speak. The majority of players do not care to address public gatherings, especially in the playing season.

"IT all depends on the humor on you at the time," said little Hughey Critz, of the Reds, in commenting on the lecture sidelights. "If a ball player goes out there and hits five for five, he can talk all night to a bunch of foreigners that don't know what he's popping off about. If he goes up five times and hits three or four right at somebody on a line, he's so sore he can't even talk to himself."

THE Reds have a very interesting squad. Jack Hendricks, himself, is a lawyer who can talk on a hundred subjects intelligently and in an interesting manner. Wally Pipp and Critz are delightful characters and the same thing applies to Pete Donahue, Val Picinich, Bubbles Hargrave and many others from the Queen City.

IF Vic Aldridge would hurry up and sign, perhaps the clubs would get down to some real business. When Vic gets his name on the paper you may be sure that the warm weather is due.

"Vic certainly did pick a good year to stay out of uniform," said one of his former pals as the Pirates discussed the attitude of the Hoosier Schoomaster. The athlete was referring to the cool breezes which have attended so many games.

THE money return at the Oakland Orchard yesterday was not enough to pay current expenses, but the Pittsburgh officials seem to have been smart in running off the game. The Pirates were in a fine streak of hitting on the previous day; moreover, Bush had Hill ready for action while the Reds were without a regular to shoot them over.

ONCE the Pirates reach the .500 point they would be in an advantageous position. Perhaps they will get up to the mark of mediocrity before the eastern clubs begin to invade the city. If they do they should make a lot of hay while the invasion is on.

THE GIANTS, it is noted, are not getting their customary jump in the early weeks of the race. With the sweepstakes more than two weeks gone, the clubs are so arranged that any of the eight could move into the lead through the agency of a short spurt.

THE Polo Grounders with the other seaboard entries must head for the western tier next week and then we shall see what we shall see. That the clubs on this end of the circuit will welcome the chance from fighting each other goes without saying. Long stays on the home grounds should prove beneficial to the Pirates and their sectional brethren.

TRIBE SELLS HURLER

CLEVELAND, April 27.—(AP.)—Pitcher Earl Collard has been sold to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League by the Cleveland Indians. He won 14 games for New Orleans in the Southern Association.

SOCCER by NEWS TOM BIRKS

THE resignation of Wilfred Cummings of Chicago, treasurer of the United States Football Association, and chairman of the Olympic soccer committee as a protest against the playing of politics in the selection of the United States' Olympic team, and of Elmer Schroeder of Philadelphia as its manager created quite a furore in soccer's ranks all over the country. This was further intensified when it became known last night that Thomas Cahill, secretary of the national body, assistant team manager, had notified President Brown that "Owing to personal and business reasons he found it impossible to accompany the American team to Europe."

WHILE it is known that President Brown has a warm feeling for Elmer Schroeder, few thought that he would allow friendship to go so far as to give Schroeder the team managership over Cahill, who has had wonderful success in taking American teams to Europe.

The feeling in Illinois is evidently very bitter against Brown, but West Penn has just as much cause to criticize the selection as much as any other district. This latest trouble in official speerdom may rip wide open one of the strongest political cliques ever formed in soccer.

CUMMINGS has practically the entire West with him in his fight against President Brown, and it is very evident that while nothing can be accomplished at this time, the fight is to a finish and will end at the national convention at Milwaukee June 30.

ANOTHER CUP STAR LOSES IN TOURNEY

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—(AP.)—The American Davis Cup squad, which has encountered rough going against California tennis stars, was recovering today from the latest buffeting experienced by one of its members and faced the prospect of more stormy weather.

Arnold Jones, former Yale racquet-ter and was a member of the squad from that William T. Tilden is piloting, was eliminated in the opening day of the Ojai Cal. tournament yesterday by Gerald Stratford, of San Francisco, 3[illegible]-6-4 sets, 7-5, 6-4. The other three members of the team, Tilden, John Hennessey, of Indianapolis, and Wilmer Allison, of Texas, came through their matches safely although Allison was extended for a time to beat Bob Varial, of Los Angeles, 3-6, 6-1.

COLUMBIA'S SPORTS ARENA TO BE ENLARGED

NEW YORK, April 27.—(INS.)—The wooden stands at Baker Field will be enlarged to increase the seating capacity at the Columbia athletic plant from 15,000 to 40,000, under plans approved by the university authorities. The Cornell and Syracuse football games will be played there this fall instead of at the Polo Grounds.

Tech Meets Grovers Here

By JESS CARVER.

MAJOR track and field interest centers today and tomorrow on two glowing spots, on Philadelphia, where the annual Penn relays are being held and on Des Moines, Ia., where the Drake carnival holds forth, The Pittsburgh and tri-state district folks, however, will eye with some interest the accomplishments at the two opening dual college meets of the year, at Tech and at Geneva, both carded for tomorrow.

The Tartans, minus the mile relay team which will run in the technical school class at Philadelphia tomorrow afternoon, engages Bob Thorn's Grove City trackmen in the Tartan Bowl, and the Covenanters, mustering their full strength, albeit a somewhat diluted strength when last year's team is considered, meets West Virginia University at Beaver Falls.

The Covenanters have withdrawn their relay team from the Penn relays in order not to weaken themselves for the Mountaineer meet, the winning of which is considered highly important.

None of the existing tri-state college records are expected to be shattered at either of these contests of skill, speed and strength. For one thing, none of the athletes have been able to reach the peak of physical condition, due to the backward tendencies of the weather. By the same token, the cinder tracks are bound to be a bit soft, hardly conducive to record-breaking feats.

TECH SPRINTERS STRONG

Carnegie Tech's main strength seems to be in the sprints, with Herlist and Red Kennedy primed for first-class races in both the 100 and 220; in the hurdles, where Capt. Lockard will hold forth, and in the broad jump, in which Guy Halferty's recently developed jumper, Gailey, will compete.

Little is known of Grove City's strength. The Crimson squad is reputed to be stronger in the weights and field events than in the sprints and runs.

A feature of the Geneva-West Virginia meet will be a special 440-yard race between Pete Bowen, University of Pittsburgh flyer, and ineligible for competition for the remainder of the year with the Panthers, and Bill Butler, Geneva's great Negro star, who completed his allotted four years of college running last spring. Butler holds the national junior A. A. U. 440-yard championship. This pair plan a series of races for the spring, and will alternate between the 100, 220 and 440-yard runs.

RIDE, AMOS POPULAR

THE appointment of Ray Ride and Bill Amos as assistant football coaches to Andy Kerr at Wash-Jeff will meet with the unqualified approval of W. and J. men throughout the district.

Ride, who is to be varsity line coach, was one of the best ends to be produced at Wash-Jeff since the days of Carroll and Loucks. He is regarded as a very smart football man, and is intensely popular with the student body and athletes.

Amos, 'ole Battling Bill himself, will act in the capacity of freshman coach and general backfield assistant to Kerr and Ride. Bill will close a most glorious career at Wash-Jeff with the present track season. He has been an all-round star, shining, however, most brilliantly as a gridiron hero.

The signing of Ride and Amos is intended to furnish a starter for the eventual installation of a graduate coaching system. The foundation with Ride and Amos, will certainly be a firm one.

MANGO CAPTAIN

Al Mango of Erie, possessor of the university records for the 100- and 150-yard backstroke events, has been elected captain of the Pitt varsity swimming team for 1929. Mango was elected following the annual swimming banquet at the Faculty club, Oak Manor, last night.

Freddy Woolridge, star of this season's freshman team, was named honorary freshman captain.

Retiring Capt. Bill Wright, Capt.-elect Mango, Harry Robb, Billy Harper, Underwood, Jackson and Student Manager Rosenberg were awarded varsity letters.

This afternoon at 2:30 a regular football game is carded for the Duquesne University field, between two picked teams, one under the direction of Director of Athletics Elmer F. Layden and the other to be run by John (Scout) Weibel, line coach.

The teams have been selected from the varsity grid squad and the contest will end the spring training season.

Big Train Back In Harness; Runs Team

NEWARK, N. J., April 27.—(AP.)—Walter Johnson, former pitcher of the Washington Senators, came here yesterday and took charge of the Newark club of the International League. He looked a bit drawn from his recent illness, but said he was feeling fine.

More than 300 fans gave him a rousing reception as he stepped from a Pennsylvania train. The demonstration brought tears to the eyes of Mrs. Johnson. "In all our years together, I have seen no finer tribute to Walter," she said.

Johnson said he expected to be in baseball uniform by Saturday.

VIC ALDRIDGE is likely to have a longer loafing spell than he bargained for, according to John McGraw.

"It's up to him to come to us and show us that he is ready to pitch," said the Giant boss. "When that happens, we may ask Commissioner Landis to reinstate him."

"That would mean that he is not likely to pitch before June. Is that right?" he was asked.

"EXACTLY, and maybe not then," McGraw replied. "Barnes, Benton and Henry are all in great shape, and my young fellows—Walker, Chaplin and Cantwell—have plenty. We don't need Mr. Aldridge right now."

MASON BOXERS BUSY

Three of Red Mason's boxers are on a card at Salem, O., tonight. U. S. Carpentier meets Billy Smith. Young Rudy bows Rudy Thomas and Tuz Phillips engages Charley Rodgers. The main bout will be an eight-rounder and the others are over the six-round route.

Purl Anderson Disqualified In Ring Bout

CLEVELAND, April 27.—(AP.)—Andre Routis, featherweight champion of France and a leading contender for Tony Canzoneri's world crown, carved out a 12-round decision by superior strength over Ignacio Fernandez of the Philippines before 9,000 spectators here last night.

Maxie Strub of Erie, Pa., earned a technical knockout over Jimmy Trannett, youthful Cleveland lightweight, in the third of their six-round match.

HAGEN

during the afternoon, a large gallery followed the play, and vigorously applauded Hagen's efforts during the afternoon rounds to overcome Compston's big lead.

Hagen had trouble with the bunkers, and his putting was also not up to his usual form. Thirty-six holes will be played tomorrow, the winner receiving a purse of approximately $5,700.

Two rounds of devastating golf put Hagen in almost helpless position. Never has a London golfing gallery seen an American star of Hagen's caliber in such helpless straits as Hagen was all day long before the faultless game displayed by Compston.

Two rounds of 67 and 66 on a par 70 course, with 15 birdies included in Compston's score, made Hagen's golf seem worse than it really was.

Hagen played without the brilliant dash and fighting spirit which the British gallery had expected of him.

Hagen played the last nine in one over fours and still lost seven holes. Compston created a new golfing record, making two short holes twice in two's on the same day for four of his birdies.

Throughout the day Compston outdrove the American, which was expected, but also outplayed him around the greens and on them. On a dozen greens Compston took only one putt, rarely three, while Hagen took three numerous times. Time after time Hagen pulled his putts to the left and lost another hole.

Should Compston continue tomorrow morning in any such form as today, there will be hardly need for a fourth round. The cards:

SETTLEMENT HOUSE ATHLETES HONORED

Champions of the various Irene Kaufmann Settlement House leagues in basketball, swimming and track were honored at a jamboree staged in the institution's auditorium in Center avenue last night, prizes and certificates being awarded the winners by Joseph (Ziggy) Kahn, athletic director.

Among the honored guests were Harold (Pie) Traynor, captain and star third baseman, who gave the youngsters an interesting talk on the Pirates' chances for the pennant this year. Other speakers were Lester Cohen, Pitt basketball star; Saul Mellinger, Carnegie Tech football star; Sidney Teller, of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, and Harry Keck and Julius Levin of The Sun-Telegraph sports department. Harry Fittler was master of ceremonies.

Dukes Stage Student Assembly

The first of a series of student assemblies was held in the theater at Duquesne University at 10 o'clock this morning for the purpose of organizing the student spirit along athletic and other student activity lines. It developed into an enthusiastic session, and additional assemblies are to be held every other week.

A. A. Laurent was chairman of the assembly and spoke, along with Howard E. Haller, honorary chairman; Bracker Johnson, president of the student senate; Joseph Turna, secretary of the alumni association, and Harry Keck, sports editor of The Sun-Telegraph.

A sketch and singing were provided by the Four Dukes and music was furnished by the student band. The new victory song was sung for the first time by the students and was enthusiastically hailed. The entire affair was crowded into one hour.

Better SERVICE from your tires

We sell the best tires made—at low prices—and give service besides.

Too few people realize that much mileage is lost by poor tire application. If your tire is improperly applied it means a pinched tube and a flat tire. You have to pay the cost of tube repair, and suffer annoyance, delay, and lose mileage. Let us put on your tires and inspect rims and wheels, to assure you maximum mileage. We have the experience and equipment to do the work right.

Drive in today and see for yourself. We'll satisfy you on both quality and price.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Summer Home Exodus to Start Soon as the Post-Easter Season Draws Near Its Close

IT DOESN'T seem long ago, does it, that we were all waiting impatiently for the end of the Lenten season and anticipating the post-Easter weddings? Now this period that we looked forward to for so long is just about over. Time does fly, doesn't it, when there are so many interesting events? And do you realize that in just a few weeks folks will be setting out for their summer homes and will be planning outdoor parties?

The season of the post-Easter weddings, although brief, has surely been one long to be remembered. And one of the last and most outstanding April weddings was that of yesterday at which Frances Burdick, daughter of the Julian Burdicks, of Von Lent place, became the bride of Charles Cromwell, Jr., of Baltimore.

The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the home, which was decorated with spring flowers, palms and cibotium ferns.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of white satin with an old lace train, long, tight-fitting lace sleeves and a deep yoke of the lace. The lace, by the way, trimmed the wedding dress of the bride's grandmother. Her veil was of tulle, arranged with a cap of the old lace. She carried white lilacs, orchids and swansonia.

Martha Burdick, as her sister's maid of honor, was charming in a frock of peach chiffon and lace. Turquoise blue chiffon and lace gowns were worn by the bridesmaids, who had wide-brimmed leghorn hats, trimmed with streamers of velvet ribbon, to complete their costumes. They carried spring flowers. Elizabeth Warren, of Detroit; Martha Love, of St. Louis, and Kathleen Guthrie, of this city, were the bridesmaids.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Theodore Trimble, of Baltimore, was best man, and Joel Wakeman Burdick II, brother of the bride, Dr. James Bordley, John Bordley John McF. Bergland and Charles Carroll, all of Baltimore; John Kellogg, of Oswego, N. Y.; Wallace Booth, of Kentucky, and Sayre McLeod, of Philadelphia, were the ushers.

Following the wedding there was, of course, a reception in the home. The bride and bridegroom will be at home in Baltimore after June 1, I understand.

Mrs. Joel Wakeman Burdick, grandmother of the bride, entertained at the rehearsal dinner on Wednesday evening. And a breakfast was given yesterday morning by one of the bridesmaids, Kathleen Guthrie, of Beechwood boulevard.

The wedding was to have taken place, you will recall, on April 12, but was postponed until yesterday because of the illness of Frances' father.

There certainly are a lot of folks going to Europe this spring, haven't you noticed? Among those who most recently started for Europe is Mrs. Raphaelle Dutiquenne Edmundson, of the Cathedral Mansions, who sailed Wednesday night.

* * *

Mrs. W. Harry Brown, who has favored Pittsburgh with a longer sojourn this year than usual, is now in New York. After a brief stay in Gotham she will sail, as you know, for England. She never misses the June season of London society.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Childs II have returned from Hot Springs, Va., this week, where they have been spending some time. Before their departure there were several entertainments given for them. They were guests at a luncheon given early in the week by Henry Root Stern, of New York. And on Saturday night they were guests at a dinner given by the Phillips R. Turnbulls, of New York, in the Homestead.

Some other Pittsburghers, by the way, have also been feted at the springs. Carle C. Conway, of New York, gave a luncheon on Saturday in the Cascades Club, at which Mrs. Alexander J. Robertson and Margaret Elliott were guests. Other guests included Prince and Princess Chavchavadze.

Last night at 8:30 o'clock, in the Second Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg, the wedding of Miss Jane Keiser, daughter of Mrs. John Keiser, of Aylesboro avenue, and William Galbraith Stewart, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Stewart, of Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg, took place. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Andrew Keiser, of Philadelphia, wore ivory satin and crepe romaine and her tulle veil was held with a cap of duchess lace. She carried white roses and orchids. Frocks of orchid chiffon were worn by the matron of honor, Mrs. Andrew R. Neilson, and maid of honor, Miss Frances Keiser, both sisters of the bride, and they carried Pernet roses. The Bridesmaids, Miss Josephine H. Stewart, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. D. Robert Ferguson, Jr., of New Cumberland, W. Va., wore chiffon frocks in deep orchid and carried spring flowers. Andrew H. Stewart was his brother's best man and the ushers included another brother, Thomas Stewart; William D. Wylie, Andrew R. Neilson, Maurice Robinson, D. Robert Ferguson, Jr., and Oliver N. Smith, of New York. A reception and dinner followed the ceremony in the University Club, with covers laid for 20 at the bridal stable. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart have left for a motor trip in the South and after May 15 will be at home in Aylesboro avenue.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Thompson, of Wallingford street, and James Russell Dodworth, Jr., son of James Russell Dodworth, of the North Side, was solemnized last night at 6:30 o'clock in the Thompson home by the Rev. Dr. William R. Farmer, of the Western Theological Seminary. The bride was gowned in white satin and georgette embroidered with pearls, and her tulle veil was held with a band of duchess lace. She carried white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Annabel Thompson was her sister's maid of honor, appearing in peach georgette and carrying spring flowers. Gowns of green georgette were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Constance Varney, of Fall River, Mass.; Mrs. Henry M. B. Chamberlin, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Mrs. George L. Hoffman and Miss Margaret M. Farmer. Their flowers were Ophelia roses. John McFadden, of Ebensburg, was best man and the ushers included Edward K. Thompson, brother of the bride; Stanley and Paul Dodworth, brothers of the bridegroom; Rowland and Henry Kenah, of New Brighton. A reception and dinner followed the ceremony.

Dr. and Mrs. William Scott, of Poplar avenue, Castle Shannon, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Grace Patterson Scott, and L. Barton Ferguson, which was solemnized yesterday at noon in the Scott home by the Rev. Dr. E. Judson Headley, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant Church of Castle Shannon. The bride wore beige crepe Elizabeth and carried a shower of butterfly roses and lilies of the valley. Her twin sister, Mrs. Alice Scott Stewart, played the wedding music. Miss Eleanor Wilson, as maid of honor, wore pale green chiffon and carried Columbia roses and snapdragon. Homer T. Eaton, of Erie, was best man. After a breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson left for a short trip. They will live in Mt. Lebanon after their return. Mr. Ferguson is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh law school.

The annual banquet and dance of the Alumni Association of the Clarion State Normal School will be held tomorrow night in Kaufmann's. Dr. Robert Steele, principal of the school; Judge Frank Harvey, president of the board of trustees; S. S. Laughlin, past president of the association; Mrs. Mary Dunn Snead, of the class of 1908; Dr. John Ballentine, retired professor of Latin, and Dr. William Y. Welsh, retired professor of biology, will be the speakers. Miss Frances Shirley will be toastmistress. There will be dancing and an entertainment will be given.

A concert and play will be given tonight at the East Liberty Carnegie Library, the musicians being Caroline Himelblau, Olympia Vaccarelli and George Wootton, vocalists; Lucy Coscia and James Phillip Johnston, pianist; Michal Choco, violinist, and J. Emery Coscia, entertainment entertainer. The cast for the play is directed by Philip Gambardella.

The active chapter of Chi Omega fraternity will hold a benefit bridge party tomorrow afternoon in the Faculty Club of the University of Pittsburgh. The proceeds will go for educational purposes. Miss Elizabeth Meermans is general chairman, with Miss Marian Brown in charge of tickets; Miss Harriet Kinney, cards and tallies; Miss Ruth Enderlin, prizes; Miss Martha Matthews, candy, and Miss Beulah Shannon, cakes.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. James McNulty, of New York, have issued cards announcing the marriage of their niece, Miss Mary Elizabeth Raab, and Thomas Harlan Baird Patterson, of Pittsburgh, which was solemnized April 18 in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson will live in Pittsburgh.

* * *

The Alfred G. Kays will return soon, I expect, from Palm Beach. They have remained longer than usual at this popular resort, probably because the spring zephyrs of the North are still a bit chilly. They recently spent a few days in St. Augustine with friends, I hear.

* * *

Emil Winters has returned from White Sulphur Springs. He had as his guests while there P. N. Kondolf, of New York; Joseph Buffington, Daniel Winters, F. F. Joyce and Charles C. Kohne, all of Pittsburgh.

* * *

The Girl Scouts of St. Raphael's School, Troop 16, will give an entertainment and a play, "The Honor of the Class," tonight in the school auditorium, Chislett street.

TO LEAD MARCH

MISS MERCEDES MACK

Miss Mercedes Mack will lead the grand march with John J. White, general chairman, at the Duquesne University junior prom, May 4, in the Hotel Schenley.

LAUDS PUBLIC LIBRARY BEFORE EPOCH CLUB

For further discussion of their hobbies the Epoch Club members heard a paper and a talk yesterday at their meeting in the home of Mrs. George M. Eaton, Braddock avenue. Mrs. E. R. Wall's paper on Victorian furniture described her own home's furnishings, which were once her grandmother's, and as an interesting addition she read a list of etiquette rules prevailing during the period. Mrs. A. L. Vencill's talk was entitled "Where Shall I Find It?" and was an exposition of the service of the public library. Through its service to humanity, the public library to which any question can be taken, occupies a vital place in the community, Mrs. Vencill held. The program for the morning was concluded with a review by Mrs. J. G. L. Schreuder, of Hendrick's "Life and Letters of Walter Hines Page."

The Ladies' Social Club of the First Ward will formally open a gymnasium and swimming pool at 1008-12 Forbes street with a luncheon on May 15. Mrs. Cathryn Cuddyer will be in charge.

AARON ROSENBLEET

Aaron Rosenbleet, 35, former assistant director at the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House, Center avenue, has been killed with Pilot Gordon Taylor in an airplane crash at Detroit. Rosenbleet spent 15 months at the local settlement, leaving to enter the aviation service of the United States in September, 1927.

WOMAN DOCTOR SENTENCED TO WORKHOUSE

Mrs. Barbara Dubitsch, 50, of Baker street, Woodlawn, was sent to the workhouse for six months by Judge George V. Moore yesterday in Criminal Court after a conviction for practicing medicine without a license, and on two charges of false pretense for taking fees under this guise.

Jacob Hegelman, 1822 Bedford avenue, testified that he had paid the defendant $25 to attend his father March 28 for a mental condition produced by an automobile accident. Mrs. Dubitsch, he said, tied a towel around the neck of the patient and cut him on the forehead five times to bleed him. The treatment was stopped only when another brother entered and interfered, he added.

In another case, a relative of Morris Heckman of Roberts street, she received $20, it was stated.

Additional Club News

The Pittsburgh Female College Association will close its program and business season tomorrow with the April meeting to be held in the College Club and will have its final event of the year, a luncheon, on Thursday in the Hotel Schenley. Publishers Say Business Is Better; Political Talk

By B. C. FORBES

NEWSPAPER publishers, gathered in New York from all parts of the country for their annual convention bring moderately cheerful tidings.

Unemployment is becoming less of a problem. Higher prices are bettering the lot of most farmers. Building is well maintained in most places. Real estate are striving, apparently with some success, to adjust themselves to the dislocation which has now lasted so many months.

Politics are keenly discussed.

DEMOCRATS and Republicans alike are assuming that Gov. Smith will be nominated at Houston. Certain southern drys hint that for a running mate a "dry Protestant" will be chosen to assuage ruffled feelings.

The rapidly-mounting total of Hoover delegates is not interpreted as conclusive proof that the Secretary of Commerce will be named at Kansas City. Our cities' newspaper owners regard Hoover as having a 9-to-5 chance—not more.

The gossip persists that Dawes will be brought forward at the crucial moment and that a pro-organized demonstration will break loose in an effort to stampede the convention for him.

Incidentally, one morsel of gossip is that, should his favorite candidate, Hoover, be sidetracked, and the nomination of Dawes appear probable, President Coolidge would consent to be "drafted." But that doesn't sound plausible.

L. H. BRUSH and Roy Moore, of the Brush-Moore newspapers and the Ohio Select List, state that conditions are better than had been expected in their cities, including Canton, East Liverpool, Marion, Steubenville and Salem. Most plants are running full time. Unemployment conditions have distinctly improved. Not only so, but "there is a much better attitude of mind among all business people."

B. F. LAWRENCE, of the Indianapolis, Muncie and Terre Haute Stars said:

"Marmon is having the greatest output in its history. The Stutz and Duesenberg factories are also doing extraordinarily well. If Ford would get in full production, our accessory plants would be humming. General Motors has established a battery plant at Muncie. The old Remy plant is also going full time. Terre Haute is doing well despite the fact that no agreement with the miners has yet been reached. Many miners have turned to truck farming and other pursuits. We are going ahead trying to forget about coal conditions. We do not know whether we will ever get a favorable freight rate and favorable union scale at the same time, so we are building up other industries. Our political troubles are now clearing."

GEORGE YOUNG, publisher of the Los Angeles Examiner, emphasized these facts to show how his go-ahead city continues to go ahead:

"The city administration has placed on the May ballot a bond issue to purchase three large airports, one to handle 60 per cent of the Nation's air mail, one to become the center of the air mail plane industry and one to become the Pacific Coast's Zeppelin base. The city means to become the southwest terminus of airplane lines from the East and North, and the eastern terminus for the inevitable air ship services to Hawaii, the Philippines and the Orient.

"What the city has done in developing a great seaport she proposes to duplicate in the way of an airport. Her harbor revenues now pay the interest and amortization of the harbor bonds and turn in a handsome profit to ease the tax rate.

"Building construction during March was much greater than in February; agricultural prospects are very favorable. Income tax returns for Southern California are ahead of last year—with 19,000 more returns filed. Oil companies declare they have definitely turned the corner; they expect an advance in crude. Two stock exchange seats have just sold at an increase of 150 per cent from the year's low. Los Angeles has led the entire country in building permits."

MUNSET SLACK, of the News Bulletin, of Bristol, Virginia and Tennessee, said briefly:

"Although the Interstate Commerce Commission has been trying to kill our coal business we count upon the courts putting things straight. High cattle prices are helping our territory. The dairy industry is doing well. We are looking for a good year despite the fact that Al Smith is already nominated and the Democratic convention done away with. Business on the whole is quite sound."

W. G. VORPE, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, said:

"Conditions are improving not only in Cleveland, but throughout Ohio. We have had quite a little unemployment, but it is lessening and is not now serious. At Youngstown the iron and steel plants are doing better. A good many merchants who have been down in the mouth are now feeling better and doing better. They do not think the presidential campaign will hurt them."

STANDARD SANITARY BREAKS UNDER PRESSURE

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP.)—A burst of new offerings overshadowed developments in the market for listed bonds today, and was partly responsible for a slowing up of trading in high grade investment securities. Prices in the main were steady, with some sharp advances in the convertible group which was stimulated by strength of related stocks.

Prompt oversubscription was reported of a fair portion of the $70,000,000 new issues, including the $16,000,000 Abitibi Power 6s and $12,000,000 Houston Gulf Gas Company 6s.

Quiet buying of Hudson Coal 5s brought another slight advance, but other industrials were quiet. Brooklyn Union Gas 5½s made the best showing among the convertibles, rising 3 points to a new year's high, while gains of a point or more were registered by Kayser 5½s and North American Cement 6½s.

St. Paul bonds again sagged under profit-taking sales, but a few railway issues, such as Rio Grande Western 5s, were in fair demand.

In the foreign division Italian industrials again moved up around their high levels for the year, but other issues generally were steady.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, (000 omitted in sales column (coupon issues) stated in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

STOCK MARKET PRICES BOUND SKYWARD

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP.)—Encouraged by the retention of the 4 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank and the apparent agreement on eastern trunk line consolidations, speculators for the advance brought about a sweeping rally in prices in today's market. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 2 to 12 points. So great was the volume of trading that the ticker was nearly 40 minutes behind the market at the end of the third hour, total sales during that period approximating 2,350,000 shares.

A temporary sinking spell took place around midday when heavy profit-taking developed in such recent railroad leaders as Delaware and Hudson, Wabash and Lehigh Valley, but buying support was quickly provided and the general market headed upward again by early afternoon. Wabash dipped from 38 to 37 and then snapped back to 39.

One block of 22,000 shares of Standard Oil of New York changed hands at 35, up ½ and a new high record. Blocks of 5,000 to 20,000 shares of other oil shares were sold in the early trading, with Sinclair, Royal Dutch, Richfield Oil of California and Pierce reaching new high ground.

Consolidated Gas extended its early gain to nearly 10 points by touching a new high record at 167½. Allis Chalmers advanced more than 7 points to a new top at 129¾. Brooklyn Edison, Case Threshing Machine, Jersey Central, International Harvester and American International advanced 5 points or more, while gains of 2 to 4 points were distributed among several score issues.

New York traction, tobacco and motion picture issues showed signs of heaviness, selling of the last-named being influenced by reports that proceedings had been brought against some of the larger producers by the Federal Trade Commission.

The closing was strong. Recognized leaders, such as Radio and General Motors, and several other high-priced stocks, began to compete with the oils for popularity in the late afternoon, when changing sentiment regarding monetary and business conditions stimulated buying. Radio, General Motors, American Express and Dupont gained 4 points or so, and Case Threshing Machine's advance exceeded 10 points.

Total sales approximated 4,200,000 shares.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, April 27.—All deliveries of wheat soared today to new high price records for the season. The largest export sale put through in months, about 3,000,000 bushels, was announced, and commission house buying for future deliveries was also of huge volume. Delays to spring wheat seeding both side of the Canadian line attracted increasing attention and there was again dearth of moisture in drought sections of the United States winter wheat belt Southwest and West.

Wheat closed firm, 3¼c to 4¼c net higher; corn, ¼c to ⅝c to 1c up; oats showing ⅝c to ¾c to 1¼c advance, and provisions varying from 8c decline to a rise of 20c.

High winds, predicted frosts and insufficiency of rains over important sections of domestic winter wheat territory did much to hoist Chicago wheat values today, apart from the fact that buying at Liverpool were decidedly higher although a decline there had been looked for. Assertions were made that the Liverpool advance was largely due to speculative buying orders from this side of the Atlantic. Advices were also at hand that Europeans had purchased overnight additional North American wheat for prompt shipment, some reports putting the total at 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 bushels.

Meanwhile authentic estimates were current that the total amount of wheat in Argentina available for export would be cleaned up in 12 weeks at the present rate of shipments. Much notice was taken, too, of a dispatch from a leading expert that the area of wheat acreage in west and northwest Kansas this season would be 80 per cent.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

BUGS BAER Says

GENE TUNNEY, who is champion of the scared circle, lectured at Yale the other day.

He spoke on Shakespeare without mentioning the subject once.

After he got through Hamburgering the classics the students yelled for Gene's autograph.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

If they had been real hospitable they would also have clamored for Shakespeare's signature.

It is nothing new for pugilists to shadow box with Education.

Kid Broad is not on Dr. Eliot's seven-foot shelf, but he slept on every other one in the world.

We will always remember Joe Grim's famous lecture, "Through the Alimentary Canal with Gun and Camera."

Gene likened himself to the heroes of the Trojan War. If we remember right, the Trojans got inside a hoss. Now the heroes get on bicycles.

Shakespeare wrote a lot of plays. But not the way Tunney described them.

He got Othello demanding a pound of bacon off Shylock and had King Lear smothering MacDuff with Yorick's toupee.

However, education is a great thing, and while Tunney's talk to the average Yale student may not be history, we guarantee that it can be classified as news.

School Week Observance Shows Nation in Bud

Pittsburgh's participation in the National Bureau of Education's observance of Public School Week is marked by special exhibitions of school work, parent-teacher meetings for the discussion of school work and a school art exhibition in the galleries of Carnegie Institute. Were all these varied activities massed at a single focal point, the public eye would view evidence of the great work carried on in our public schools, evidence of great improvement in educational methods, evidence of greater co-operation between educators and parents, and, above all, evidence that our children are given greater latitude in the expression of their skill and talents.

The high school art exhibit in the Carnegie galleries and the exhibition of work of pupils of minor grades in various classrooms are especially interesting. In the latter one sees the beginning of creative effort. The showing of the work of the older pupils illustrates the progress in the graphic and other arts. One might liken the comparison to the bud and the half-opened flower which is yet to come into the fullness of bloom.

What will the full-blown flower be? The success of the republic depends upon the answer to that, and it is our great public school system that is giving the growing youth of our country the culture that flowers into magnificent sturdy citizenship. That is the answer given by our faithful teachers, often underpaid and unappreciated. The old saying that as the twig is bent the tree is inclined is fully demonstrated in the work of our schools.

Training the children is our most important work. Perhaps fortunately for the most of them, a great part of the training falls upon teachers rather than upon such indulgent parents as we are prone to be. It is important, then, that the training be well systematized. In furtherance of that idea, President Coolidge has advocated the creation of a national Department of Education. President Coolidge is a wise man, and Congress and the nation at large would do well to give heed to his valuable recommendation.

Hays' Vote to Join City New Break South of River

Voters of Hays borough, at the special election held in connection with the spring primary, decided to have their town become part of the city of Pittsburgh by annexation. The way is now opened for the completion of the union through municipal legislation, bringing to conclusion a matter that has deeply agitated residents of our neighboring borough.

When Hays becomes part of the city it will mark the first break in the territory south of the Monongahela embracing Hays, West Homestead, Munhall and Whitaker. All likely will be part of Pittsburgh eventually either through annexation or the operation of the metropolitan district plan.

In the past year or two annexation appears to have been making greater headway in quarters which formerly held aloof from the city. It is a significant trend, foreshadowing the day when Pittsburgh will be correctly credited with its rightful population.

More Liners the Need

Of all the brave men and women who tried the west-bound North trans-Atlantic flight, only the three men on the Bremen came through safely, and they escaped just by a hair's breadth.

In the present state of aviation, regular trans-Atlantic flying for passenger or mail carrying is not thinkable.

What we shall need is landing stages at intervals across the Atlantic. Their construction is declared to be possible; an American company is being formed to build them.

In the meantime, a substitute for these landing stages will probably be provided if the Jones-White Merchant Marine bill passes Congress.

The Trans-oceanic Corporation says that it will be one of the first American shipping companies to apply for a government loan. It wants to borrow ninety million dollars to build a fleet of four-day liners, under the American flag.

Their upper decks will be flat for airplanes, like the airplane carriers Saratoga and Lexington. Mail or passenger planes can land and rest on the decks of these liners, which will be constantly located at intervals across the Atlantic. On the average, the Trans-oceanic's ships, eastbound and westbound, will be four hundred miles apart; the maximum distance between them will be eight hundred miles.

The plan is attractive as combined sea and air service. It shows what American capital is planning to do if Congress will remove the handicaps to its attempt to put the flag back on the seas.

Radio Tangles

Congress set the Radio Commission an impossible task when it instructed it to distribute broadcasting stations and wattage in proportion to population and area.

If the radio is not to be monopolized, the allocation of its services will have to be in proportion to the demand, wherever that is.

Right now the demand is greatest where wealth is greatest and population is densest. It will not benefit other zones to choke the broadcasting there.

On the contrary, initiation of programs where artists are most available benefits all sections, since they are available to all.

It may be necessary to go through an ordeal of curtailment in order to make this truth manifest.

It is to be hoped, however, that the commission will not take its instructions too literally.

THE RIGHT ROAD TO MANHOOD

New York Day by Day
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 27.—Thoughts while strolling: Those basement places with dirty window curtains making the sardonic claim: "Home Cooking." Franklin Booth, the artist. A window of gold-rimmed cognac glasses—marked down. Girls who rouge at the wheels of automobiles. Royal Brown and his wife.

Two writers from Jersey—Conningsby Dawson and Albert Payson Terhune. A woman in a window demonstrating a patented chin reducer. Looks like an old-fashioned egg-beater. The fellow with the apostolic beard, who walks about with a parrot on his shoulder. Channing Pollock.

That glow of pride we feel when a traffic officer salutes. Ring watches no bigger than a dime. A teamster yells: "Giddap Ambrosia!" The plain-clothed guardians about millionaires' homes. "Ginger snaps like mother used to bake." But whose mother? A. E. Matthews, the English actor—and a good one.

The Demosthenes Shine Parlor. Parasites who hang about a railroad station. When one more motorcycle grazes me, I begin shooting from both hips. Few pedestrians can resist peeking down an open manhole. A triangle-shaped perfume parlor, all mirrors and looks a block deep.

Nothing looks so out of place as a bird dog in the city. Joseph Urban's triple chins. Those block-long theatrical scenery trucks. The queer wood smoke smell floating from Jersey hills. Old men with umbrellas who walk with one arm behind their back.

Little Rollos, rolling mahogany polished hoops. The Turkish coffee stand that never seems to have customers. Pops who admire themselves in window mirrors. Move over. Professional twins "on the make." More bicycles than ever this summer.

A portable Punch and Judy show with a faded old maestro. A man walks under a ladder, thinks it over, goes back and does it again. Atta hero! Desolation comes to the fur shops. Glass pillars in front of a sea food cafe, with running water and live fish. Jay E. House, a paragrapher from Topeka.

Early summer brings winter shutins to public parks. There is a spot on the east side of Central Park that is the rendezvous for many. They are wheeled there in invalid chairs and resume friendships cut off with the first touches of winter.

A young bachelor decided to spark a little swank in his apartment by hiring a single Chinese servant. He invited a group of cronies to the first dinner. In the midst of the meal, there was a disturbance in the kitchen. The cook seemed to be issuing orders in pidgen English to several persons. The bachelor had the idea the kitchen had suddenly filled with Chinese, so he went to investigate and found only the lone servant. Inquiring the reason for the jamboree, he got this explanation: "Make noise like heap people. Me no want master's friends to think he no have plenty servants."

Another gentleman recently asked the doorman of his building where he might secure a butler for the evening. He was entertaining a group of ladies. The doorman modestly admitted he had "buttled" on occasions, and was hired. He appeared in regulation uniform, wearing correct white gloves and a larded mustache. In opening the first bottle of wine, the cork popped into his eye, and in agony he grabbed it with one hand while the other held the bottle aloft. The host felt it his duty to replace three gowns ruined by the deluge.

There is an incorporated establishment in the West Forties offering typical well-trained English butlers with owl eyes, side whiskers and everything, and equally well trained French maids, for the evening. They furnish their uniforms and the charge for the evening for the butler is $10 and the maid $7.

* * *

I hope I never have to hire a butler. They give me the creeps. I have seen the butler move through too many plays with bland-like innocence, only to learn at the final curtain that it was none other than he who stabbed the master.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Education and Thinking

THERE is no greater public problem than that of popular education. It is for everybody to think about, and it is still far from a satisfactory solution. Nowhere is free education carried farther than in the United States, and nowhere are opinions about it more discordant.

What should be the limits of gratuitous instruction? To what subjects should such instruction apply? How far should the public at large pay for vocational training of individuals? Ought colleges and universities as well as common schools to be free for everybody? How about compulsory education, or compulsory school attendance? To what subjects should that apply and at what age should it stop? How hard should examinations be?

These are a few of the details of this complicated problem that are talked about. And there should be more talkers about them—provided that the talkers first make some inquiries and do some independent thinking on the subject. INDEPENDENT THINKING, mark you, for there is very little of that, especially where thinking is a task and not an amusement.

Here is something worth thinking about from a statement issued from the Columbia Law School, New York. The Columbia Law School does not furnish gratuitous instruction. But that, in itself, may be a reason why its experience and conclusion should attract general attention.

The conclusion briefly stated, is that the present requirements for admission to this school are ineffective because they fail to exclude persons who are not suited for the work before them. The Columbia faculty has been trying experiments to test in advance the capacity of students to pursue a successful law course, and it is "convinced that a man with a poor college record who also makes a low score on a capacity test, is almost certain to fail in the law school."

On the other hand, the same faculty proposes, while shutting out as far as practicable the incapables, to furnish opportunities for exceptionally capable students to go ahead and develop their powers to the utmost. Only a glimpse is given at the nature of the process by which the grounds for exclusion are determined. This appears in the following sentence: "Beginning in 1921 and extending over a period of four years an elaborate and carefully prepared examination calculated to test the general capacities of the students to deal with abstractions and symbols was given to all members of the entering classes."

I have italicised certain words which indicate the nature of the test. Evidently it concerns essentially the power of consecutive thinking, which is the chief point of intellectual inequality among human beings.

* * *

Now, we all know that it is not only the field of the lawyers that is overcrowded because of the rushing into it of poorly endowed, or of misplaced, persons who might have succeeded well in some occupation suited to their capacities, but that a similar state of affairs exists in many other professions and special occupations whose excessively plethoric condition is promoted, if not produced, by the too great ease with which incapables are permitted to obtain the testamurs of educational institutions.

Once Overs
By J. J. MUNDY

Keep Building

SNAP out of it.

Revive you sagging spirits and diminishing efforts.

Rouse yourself to greater interest.

Your world and that world about you is only hum-drum if you make it seem so.

There is much ahead of you that is full of good if you are hopeful.

Maybe you have passed through a lot of dark clouds.

They still envelop you.

But pull out to a degree; at any rate it is worth while trying.

Anything that is improvement is sufficient to warrant any extra effort you may make.

To sag and resign yourself to fate is the easiest way.

But that is merely giving up.

Set another goal, not too far ahead and make for it.

When you have established it, reach out for another goal and so on, and a succession of efforts will reward you nicely.

You need the building up which this plan will bring.

The Rhyming Optimist
By ALINE MICHAELS

Nesting Joy

MY life was like a little tree
In Winter, stripped and bare,
No budding leaves of hope for me,
No blooms like proud trees wear.

My life was twisted all a-wry
By winds too fierce, too bleak;
No kindliness of soil or sky
Or rain, that all trees seek.

And then came joy, a bird, to build
On leafless boughs her nest,
Through all my days her gay song trilled,
Green leaves life's branches dressed.

For as brave robin's carols wake
Reluctant, sleeping Spring,
So does one nesting gladness make Life sweet with blossoming!

Tales that are Told

The Innocent Abroad

A YOUNG Englishman had a bad joke played on him not long ago. He was on his way to the French capital, and confided to a Frenchman he met on the cross-Channel steamer that he was afraid of getting lost.

"If you lose yourself, just ask a policeman," explained the Frenchman. "The Paris police are just as polite as the London bobbies."

"How do you address a Paris policeman?" asked the Englishman.

"If you want to be very polite," said the Frenchman, "walk up, raise your hat, and say, 'Pardon, Monsieu l'Agent, mort aux vaches.'"

The expression, "Mort aux vaches" is the famous battle cry of the Montmartre Apaches. It means "kill the cows," and is the worst insult one can apply to a policeman. But the innocent tourist walked up to a policeman outside the railway station, raised his hat, and said in very bad French:

"Pardon, Monsieur l'Agent, mort aux vaches. Voulez-vous m'indiquer l'Hotel Continental?"

The policeman knitted his brows and shouted to him to clear off. The tourist was pained. Obviously his French had not been understood, so he tried again.

"Pardon, Monsieur l'Agent, mort aux vaches."

The policeman decided that he had to deal with a mad foreigner and dragged him to the nearest police station, where he was detained for several hours until he explained through an interpreter.—London Tit-Bits.

Excusable

THE doctor, having recovered his fur-lined overcoat, was reluctant to proceed against the culprit.

"But look 'ere, sir," said the policeman, anxious to uphold the majesty of the law, "it was a clear case o' larceny, wasn't it?"

The doctor smiled.

"Not exactly," he replied. "Let us say rather a case of misunderstanding. You see, I told my patient that he must take something warm immediately, and on his way out he happened to see my overcoat on the hallstand."

Couldn't See Why

TWO actors who were exceedingly jealous of each other met in a hotel much favored by members of their profession. They exchanged frigid nods.

"How are you getting on?" asked one presently.

"Pretty well," answered the other in a distinctly disagreeable tone. "Still keeping alive."

The first speaker eyed his rival steadily for a second, nodded his head once or twice, and then said very casually:

"What's your motive?"

That Was All

THE manager of a touring theatrical company received a letter from a woman in London stating that her husband, one of the members of the company, had sent her no money for weeks.

The manager sent for the actor in question.

"Look here, Smith," he said, "do you ever send anything to your wife when you are on tour?"

"Oh, yes," answered the other, brightly; "always my kindest regards."

Hand Shaking
By DR. FRANK CRANE

Mr. Coolidge, President of the United States, shook hands steadily the other day for one hour and five minutes, for the benefit of those who could say to the home folks, "Well, I shook hands with the President." There were 2,380 of them.

This was some job, even if it was something of a grab and move on affair.

Shaking hands with so many people so rapidly doesn't give a President time to spend many moments with an individual.

President Roosevelt was considered the champion handshaker, but President Coolidge has eclipsed him.

Sometime ago, after a hand-shaking spree, he wore bandages on his hands for several days. This time, however, fortunately, no damage was done.

But why the hand-shaking? Of course, the purpose is a good one. The President wants to be a good fellow and to show he is not above speaking to a common man.

But anybody with any sense ought to know that, and they ought further to realize that for him even to take a minute off from his official duties to pay attention to the common man would leave him no time for his legitimate work, because there are so many common men.

The President is employed for a specific purpose. He has work to do. He is our hired man and wants to do his job.

But he cannot do this if he is constantly called away from it to be nice to us.

He is supposed to labor with his head and not his hands. We could hire a hand-shaker at two or three dollars a day, but we are paying the President much more for his head work. He ought to be given a chance to do it well.

He might rig up some sort of automation that would do his hand shaking for him, or in some other way relieve himself of the hard manual labor involved in placating the citizens.

Without any desire to have our President "chesty" or stuck up, we insist that he be relieved from the duties of hand shaking and baby kissing.

OH, THESE WOMEN!
By LEOLA ALLARD.

MRS. WILLIAM STANTON MONROE, well-known throughout the West as a clubwoman and philanthropist, says that being "professional first citizens" is an organized industry among women. Being box holders, patrons and what not, should, according to Mrs. Monroe, be classed with "big business." It is r mean job.

News from Washington states that Col. Lindbergh landed there and departed immediately for a "rendezvous." It has the sound of something you know it isn't. He never courts anything but danger; and we suspect he has a best girl some place up in the clouds.

In Kokomo, Ind., a wife can go to foreign fields and become a missionary and the husband can either follow her or not, but he must remain married to her. He can't get a divorce. That's the latest court ruling. Heretofore it has been the wife's duty to live in the place where her husband made a home for her. Maybe Erwin Riley, the husband, doesn't like the Chinese but a lot of good that does him!

The next great war is going to be started by the men against their common enemy, woman. And it should not be brought about in the spring. It will be sure to end with the men shouldering the arms of of their enemies, and getting the mistaken idea that they have won the battle.

Remember the old toast, "Your arms are our defense, our arms your recompense. Fall in."

LISTEN, WORLD! ELSIE ROBINSON Says: Homes Reach Far in 1928

MARY complains because children won't stay home.

"They're always out in the street," she cries, "or gadding off to the movies or the swimming pool, or some place else. It just seems as if they couldn't be contented to settle down and spend an evening at home the way I did when I was a youngster."

Mary would be surprised if she were told that the children ARE at home, even when they're gadding off to the movies—yet it's true. Homes reach far in 1928—

Homes, in grandma's times, were still pretty much like the first cave homes. Tight, independent, detached little communities. Mothers made their own soap and candles, bread and cheese, linen and rugs. Fathers turned their hands to almost anything from cobbling a shoe to shingling a roof. Families 50 years ago could withstand a siege, so self-efficient was the home—so little did it depend on the outside world for its supplies or its interest.

Housekeeping in the last century meant knowing how to cook and sew, weave and clean, make cough medicine, and smack Johnny if he misbehaved, which would seem to be enough for any one woman to do—and all honor to the brave women who did it. But at that, it was a cinch compared to housekeeping in 1928.

It is true that Mary doesn't need to perform one-tenth the manual labor which her grandmother performed. Machinery has taken the industries out of the home.

Mary's children no longer live within four walls. They can't. There isn't enough food within those walls to feed them, physically, mentally or morally. Mary's children are out and away, looking for food for their hungry minds and souls. That glittering Main street is the Front Porch of the 20th Century home. The Movie House and the Club Hall are the Living Room. The Public Swimming Pool, the Aerodrome, the Speed Track, the Football Field are the back yard. THE HOME OF TODAY, NO MATTER HOW MAGNIFICANT IT MAY BE, IS ONLY AN ENCAMPMENT, IT IS NO LONGER A COOP.

You've worried as Mary does because the children won't stay home, haven't you, Pal? Don't! All your prayers and tears, all your cussing and coaxing, won't cram life back into a home it has outgrown. But you can, if you're wise and brave and tolerant, stretch the home to fit life. You can't keep the children in, but you can, and should go out with them. YOU CAN SWEETEN AND SET IN ORDER THE WHOLE HOUSE OF HUMANITY INSTEAD OF ONE SMALL CABIN. You can—and you must, if you wish to serve your child. For home life no longer comes in cabin, sizes, Pal. It must stretch to cover the world!

Tangy Pleasure
By B. C. FORBES

DO YOU want to be transported out of the humdrum of the daily grind, to forget about rising money rates and falling stocks, to get a new species of mental thrill? If so, turn to another page of this newspaper and start reading "Trader Horn." It contains delightful surprises in fast succession.

This veteran past master in the school of rough, raw experiences has seen things, encountered things, suffered things entirely beyond our ken. His gnarled body bears awesome marks inflicted in savage lands, but his spirit has remained unscarred. He draws laughter often; sometimes tears. His philosophy is piquant, his language is all his own. He mirrors phases of human life entirely new to those of us accustomed to soft civilization. The mystic is adroitly, quaintly blended with the stark, shocking matter of fact.

No romantic novelist ever conceived more extraordinary actions than this ex-slavery trader has figured in.

As you follow his unique battlings you forget all about Wall Street and Main Street, all about office and factory, and revel in a strange, often weird, world, yet always a world of actualities.

Treat yourself to this rare, novel, gripping, tangy pleasure.
